Islam is the only religion where its followers leave what a country does when the country, they are in kills its followers. Yes, there are some Christians that quit on a country that does such like Pastor Steven Anderson, but he's the minority. Important

Your life can always improve.

If you could prove to someone in the US military that they are being used to conquer the Middle East to enslave humanity, they will just think it is stupid and would go along with what America does because they are agnostic and don't believe such a "third" temple could cause this. They would never get up and leave the military if they could.

People believe we Muslims are stuck in a certain way, that we refuse to see other's perspectives. They think we are not willing to learn.

People aren't going to learn or grow in the future, but society will think their citizens are.

If you can't say one thing bad about someone in power, you don't live in the real world. You don't believe evil exists. I have to ask then why is the world going to end the way the Quran describes it? This way of thinking that everyone's reasoning is justified is wrong, there are immoral people in power, there is no good in what they do. Just because a country elected these leaders doesn't mean the leaders are upright people.

All these atheists on Twitter are there to pull us Muslims away from scripture to end Sharia Law. These ex-Muslims always say it is because of the verses it is not the people.

People want to keep letting out their frustration thinking that they are bottling it up when they are not, they have to be taught to let go. We need to think about how to improve from the mistakes in the future to accept them instead of getting frustrated by the mistakes we make. By thinking about how to improve it helps a lot to get you to let go of something since you're trying your best.

People pretty much know all of the political figures on YouTube along with all of the famous channels. They know all of the politicians as well.

All of this wealth such as skyscrapers have proven to bring the worldly life. Take for instance Dubai. Important

You have to always have clarity when you are angry to get your point across. If you are angry too long or are too angry you lose clarity and will not get it back until the anger goes away. Important

All these talks about sexuality on the radio and the internet has caused more and more sex with many partners. It really is that simple. People don't think if you're a guy who had sex with 100 women that you're gross. This is how society is failing, people don't hold anyone accountable for anything. This means they can do anything they want and reveal it. Important

Reporting someone to a higher up never fixes the issue, so I don't know why we have to do it all in society, yet we do it so much.

Because the other religions don't believe that the zionist "third" temple will be achieved where the zionists rule the world, the other religions see no reason to support Palestine since it isn't their religion. What I am trying to say is a Christian, polytheist, or a hindu or a buddhist believes they go to their form of an afterlife. Meanwhile, these other religions are trying to unite the world and will not call out the zionists for running the earth and trying to end the earth, instead they say "positive" things of all faiths thinking their faith will reign supreme someday by doing such. Important

Husbands and wives do not want to take Islamic advice with each other because they believe they both understand the faith as well as one should know. This causes them to clash.

A Muslim cannot enslave another Muslim. This is the only religion that has that as a law.

People don't envision you being Muslim for some reason. They don't think of you in that regard. I can't figure it out. They don't believe you would live by scripture where it is not who you are as a person. Where you wouldn't do a practice like such. Yet we believe in and allow the practices. That somehow, I'm a Muslim that doesn't support what is in the faith and want it illegal for others. They will aways say that is not part of the Islamic faith.

In Islam, all is defined that Islam is a patriarchy for instance. In hinduism and talmudism the belief evolves, and their followers say "it can or it cannot be" a practice. This is what most Christians are doing today.

The hit people get from drugs or alcohol doesn't work so they need it more and more to get that hit. What it shows is that this is all bad.

Christians are taught to speak the truth. Yet most of them will not speak a word against other religions they will speak against other political parties. It is because they don't want to be looked down on by others. They want as many people to like them as possible.

You cannot hide anything in today's world. It's not just the internet. It's the fact that you have to type out documents of what you believe, and you share information with others so they know. As I've stated before, people will either think you need help or it's your personality and that's not who you are. You can just keep lying to someone and say "that's not who I am". Important

College is when people learn ideology. Now it is being pushed on teens. It will spread more and more. People will become incredibly political.

If you do not pray, you are not grateful for life. You may love humanity, but you are not grateful to God for life since you have no possible physical or mental disability that prevents you from such. There is not one person in the world that cannot pray in some way.

Just because you are not rich and famous you still have talent. People like those are just lucky. Your talent happens to be that you can be an engineer or go into politics to unite others by having good dialogue or you are able to think for yourself, that's a talent.

All of these people with big followings that claim Islam and then say lgbt is allowed they know what they are denying. They do this for massive followings. They know it discourages others, but they don't care, it's all about them.

If you have a vision, society will just say it is a "hallucination" that it is "schizophrenia". That is defined? I thought in psychology everything was a theory for someone to determine this for me somehow? I must be incompetent than for you to speak on my behalf. Yes there are people that are incompetent or lie but apparently all lie that claim to see a Prophet. We have all smoked weed once in our lives, the psychiatrists will admit that the effects of weed do not linger forever, but the psychiatrist will claim that is the cause anyways after all you had smoked weed once so you can never be credible with this. Also, your medications still do nothing, but it is about the right medication dosage to find the "right amount" to prevent visions. No. Important

To all these people who think Nick Fuentes is bad since they have accepted Nick does not have a mental illness, you have seen nothing for what the future brings with what ideologies will emerge in America.

To all these people who claim the world is constantly changing our ideas are constantly evolving, I must not be part of your generation. My life has been so simple, what I think is that these people want to believe they are doing amazing things. They must think their life is some sort of adventure, but it isn't. What they are not realizing is that the earth is taking steps backwards, nothing would indicate that the direction the earth is going in is something to be explored. Take for example JoeyBToonz on YouTube who keeps advocating for going back to old ways, because life was simpler for people, all this is doing is stressing people out more. None of this changes the fact you live at home, you're single, you're investing far more into yourself each year, your career is going to get old after the first year.

The republican party in America says they don't want lgbt being taught to the youth in America, yet the republican party gives us Muslims as much trouble as possible for banning homosexuality. What a stupid stance to take, you lose someone on that alone.

The Bible does not state there is one God. It says your Lord your God is one. In the Quran it shows us that there is no God but Allah.

Back in 2005 you could not say a word against America or troops. Now you cannot say a word against republican or democratic parties, you can say whatever you want about America and troops.

All will agree that the Weimar Republic was a devastation and now the leftists in America want to recreate it. I can't take them seriously.

In the future they want the imams to keep updating each generation which is not the imams' job. You just know the Arab world will be protesting for socialism or lgbt thinking "you can't just rule this stuff out", yet it has proven to never work in society. They will also do this with polytheism. What I am spelling out is that the youth will say that no matter what you as a scholar of Islam will never know enough. The youth will say "you can't just say lgbt is not part of islam", they do that already. Important

It's amazing how they tell us Muslims that you can't cast off people's beliefs and everything is a theory, they are consistent with that their whole lives, that isn't a "theory" for them that concepts are all right or all wrong nor will it ever be a "theory" it has been ruled out for them.

Feminism will still be feminism, it won't evolve nor will any ideology they are all defined and have been known the same for hundreds of years. There is nothing "new" about feminism. These concepts have been around since the beginning of time. Charles Fournier who originated the word feminism called the belief a socialist utopian society. That sounds exactly like what feminists today are. There you go it was the exact same almost 200 years ago, nothing "revolutionary" by no means. Then the feminists argue they don't want a socialist utopian society, really?

People don't want to be known as "close minded", it doesn't make you "close minded" if you are right in what you believe. In fact, you fact check what you believe. It is a very derogatory term. There's a way to be viewed as close minded without making it seem like you know it all. I don't know it all, but I am sure of being conservative, Muslim, which countries to support etc.

People who have drug and alcohol problems will tell you they will quit, they never do. You know this beforehand talking to them.

People's expectations are getting higher and higher each generation. Each generation will think more and more highly of themselves and will expect more out of life and what they put out. They will work harder and harder to achieve their goals whatever it may be whether it is a CEO or a famous rapper. They want things faster and faster making them have short attention spans. Joey B and I agree that they won't even live life anymore. Important

Both the democratic party and the republican party are wasteful to me. They are not professional at all.

It's on you to get the respect you feel you deserve, nobody else. You don't have to turn to friends and family to tell you that you are respected. I'm not telling you that you have to accept that many people don't respect you, but you spend all that time worrying over the ones who don't instead of reflecting on the ones who do. You do get respect from a lot of people.

They believe we are biased when we put out material because we are Muslim but somehow American scholars of history aren't since they are not religiously affiliated. So much is wrong with this.

It is all predetermined. There is no point trying to talk someone into your beliefs. What I mean is if they don't respect you, they never will. The other person will think they can reason with you, no. It is the biggest wasted conversation you could ever have explaining yourself to someone who clearly does not get along with you over political or religious beliefs. Important

There is no freedom of religion in America. You can't talk about Islam or Christianity in public without people getting deeply offended. That's not freedom, that's censorship where no one wants to talk about religion.

It is a serious claim when they tell us Muslims don't educate Muslim women. Not only are you claiming they are being robbed the right to be a doctor but far worse you are claiming they are being used to be taken advantage of to be controlled by a man.

People will always believe that we Muslims are being deceptive where nothing we say is honest or truthful. That everything we put out is either false or propaganda.

Allah wrote out how to be righteous in Abrahamic faiths. In buddhism and hinduism their scholars decide that for you.

One thing I notice is people love to talk about famous figures from the past such as Malcolm X, a president, or a philosopher. If you want to win them over just agree with them and talk about the famous figure, they want to discuss with you.

All of these people who deny God because they are rich, they would deny God if they were rich, they would be too prideful.

If you were to say God didn't have Prophets or we don't know what practices God would want, ok then what practices would God want? Their response would be "we don't know", by that point you couldn't be talking about God then. Look at all of the practices they give you in Islam.

Remember that everyone on the earth believes their country and humanity as a whole can do better. One day humanity will wish for things life cannot give to them.

No matter what level of education, the youth aren't guaranteed success. All that matters is the economy, so the teachers have to live and either say the economy is doing good citing misleading statistics or they have to make a false claim that the economy will be much better in the future. This is proof college is a waste of time, the economy doesn't care what level of education you get. If you have no degree and the economy is good, you will make a lot of money. No employer will turn you away because you don't have a 4-year degree.

People look at your current state. If you tell them you've been to x number of psych wards or spent so much time in jail, they will only look at how you talk to them in the current state. However, if you are in a relationship with a woman and you go to let's say 3 psych wards a year, she will leave you because the current state is bad. Also, there is no math equation of 4 psych wards equals 30 days in prison so really you can go to both as much as you want provided in the future you stop going. You may feel you are not being respected being accused of a mental illness. It doesn't change the fact no one cares. Nobody will drop your number if you go to a psych ward. Nobody will ever ask you about it. However, many women are not going to want to go out with you, that's the one drawback. Important

I had watched the 25 most viral videos on TikTok and they were all senseless just a waste of time watching them. People don't even care what they upload. To get famous on TikTok all you have to do is post a video with a popular song in the background of you lip singing the song and dancing a bit. Not only is this no effort at all, it isn't a talent, anyone of any IQ can do this. I would think someone would get depressed watching this all day where there is no thought put into the videos where it in no way challenges someone nor gets them to want to be a part of something. Not a good use of your time at all.

If you or I were God then there would be no reason to do the right thing in society. It isn't that you or I wouldn't do the right thing, there would just be no reason since you as the god would not be held accountable for your actions.

People are judgmental in high school of your class. Women are very mean in high school.

You can't say in America, they make it so only white people can succeed where black people have no chance at the middle-class lifestyle. You also can't say that America says white people are inherently racist. People will know you are being disingenuous there, it is either one or the other, you would have to pick one.

You can never use "what if" scenarios to claim you are right, those never work, you end up looking dumb most of the time.

Sharia court can rule that if you hit your wife too hard, they can put you in jail. If a man hits his wife hard enough, that can be grounds for divorce. Also, women don't have to get married in Islam and they can work a job. All this talk that they have to stay at home, it's a lie.

All capitalism has done is make a society that is I got to have it or else I didn't live a good life. It's bad for society, to be fair it is not terrible.

All children have to be watched and taken care of. This is a law of life; children cannot be taught to live on their own.

What I found is that most people talk about their life and their spiritual journey to Christianity or Islam talking about the role God plays in their life. They do not talk about the Bible or the Quran with any verses they may mention a few at most. What this shows me is that when you explain verses to them to show the Quran is infallible it does not work for most people if you were to try to show them Islam is correct. This means you can't talk to them. You play no role in their spiritual journey to religion. As the Quran says no matter what sign you give them, they will not believe, a sign can be showing that the Quran is infallible. The Quran could also be saying, they don't want you to give them proof whatsoever. Important

People aren't going to listen that you will make enemies where they are not "haters", you have to defect, don't live an adventure, you have to go against the countries laws, you have to speak against what most of the world does.

People's first concern is being happy and uniting everyone around the world. This would be the opposite of what they want. Important

People feel their life has no purpose if they party all the time, yet they keep doing it. They know they keep trying to escape. No number of drugs or alcohol makes you depressed, it is your choice to feel depressed.

Women want to get involved with the legal system because they are sympathetic and want to believe they care for someone who they feel didn't get a fair shot in society. Women are the ones convincing men that it constantly has to be reformed. As you know, I don't feel it needs to be reformed at all aside from people going to jail for weed. What happens is people still go to jail for weed, and then the women step in and say all these other crimes criminals commit they are either being wrongly treated as if the system let them down. Most people don't think you are a good person if you go to jail. Your friends won't leave you if you go to jail, only if you keep going back.

Videogames can make you lazy, that doesn't mean it contributes to it. It won't do anything, playing videogames all day nor being on the internet all day. It is the person; anyone can be on the internet 17 hours a day like I am.

Behaviors are taught by repetition; we all have to be taught multiple times.

They get frustrated at how to run clergy, but they still enjoy it to this day. They are not at all bothered by the internet or the people leaving Christianity. It is a lot of work to run a Church, this shows it is an institution.

It is personality if you say the wrong things at times, people know if you don't have a filter or not.

It's no wonder why the youth end up doing drugs and alcohol, once they get the idea, they don't say no to anything. The thought that it could be enjoyable is enough for them. I highly doubt they learn from past experiences. Remember too that they have to do it, they can't miss out on anything, meaning they have to do everything. It shows they have never said no to anything in their life. If you were to tell them no, they would go on to the next thing. Important Part of the reason why people do not commit crime is because they do not want people quitting on them. I didn't understand this, welcome to the real world.

One could say people are so judgmental because they only want what is best for you they want you to be the best you can be.

There has to be a God because we can all be criticized to this day. Don't think of it as we are all sinners. Think of it as nobody can figure out how to be free of criticism yet you see politicians try so hard as a method to get votes.

They think you have no filter if you say what you want. There's no such thing as no filter, they just don't care. I find this funny.

A worker told me not everything is a theory in psychology not everything is a theory. If this is true then the whole field is debunk where they can claim something is a fact and something isn't. These are the same professionals who say religion cannot be proven. So, your beliefs can be proven somehow? Seriously?! Important

To women that dress like prostitute, you may not want to talk about sex, but you are requiring me to talk about sex. When talking to a prostitute, you talk to one about sex, that is their job, clearly your job is to be a prostitute. I don't know how you want me to avoid this. You may not want sex from men, but you take on the role.

Muhammad said most of your sins are with your tongues because he knew that if we sin too much with our tongues not only would it weaken the Ummah, make it more difficult to spread Islam, but people will quit on us.

Someone made a good point that to get cigarettes you have to go through a lot of regulations to get them and you have to be 21. With pornography it is free on the internet, meaning as young as possible can watch it. The reality is there is no way to age restrict it and there is so much of it that it could not possibly be banned.

People will only listen if they agree with you on your beliefs. They only want to learn further from their beliefs not be taught something they don't agree with. All you can do is go further and further with those who agree.

Pay very close attention to this, all we Muslims can do is keep dividing the earth, that's all we need to do through any way possible. All this is done while keeping Syria, Palestine, Iraq, and Iran intact. Their best tool and the one that can take us down is to unite the earth. Important

People on TikTok keep trying to brand their ideas as new. I don't know why they would think they are or if they will ever quit doing it some generation. What is on TikTok is a waste. It is not knowledge, very little on it is worth your time. Yet the youth are turning to it for what they believe is "education", yikes! Important

The more movies about having sex it causes the women to think oh it's not a big deal since the women are young. It makes them forget religion.

The youth want to be exactly the same as their favorite rappers like Mac Miller. This means they have no individuality. They don't want to be set apart. We are not all the same, God made us all different. It's no wonder why Candace Owens do so well in America, people want to leave the status quo.

Unfortunate truth even if America didn't lie about where you were when interrogating you, they can just trap you and claim you are in daesh with a fake post or they can just say you were lying and the public will believe it.

We humans expect respect from others. This is part of good ethics that Islam teaches. This is a law of life that the world needs good ethics not only to run but because we expect respect.

You will meet your Lord thy God. Let those who are present warn those who are absent. The best among you is he who most regards God. There are no races among you nor tribes. Muhammad's farewell speech.

We all are entitled to our reactions. That's what to say. Don't laugh in the moment people think you are laughing at them no matter what. You can say you were anxious.

If you are at the bottom may as well stay at the way bottom, all you ever hear is that you didn't make it in life if you are not rich.

They will say for anything that someone could not control their actions and did not know better. You know when someone truly doesn't want good for society.

You can just claim someone is an amazing person that everyone would like and is going through a rough time when they are sadistic to others, say that we've all had our mental health struggles.

Society is taught that we all have good in us we all can learn. No. We are not teens anymore. We are in our 30s.

A woman can write in the marriage with her husband that he is not to hit her nor get multiple wives or else they can get divorced. Yet no one talks about this when they criticize Islam. Important

The Iranian protestors are doing this because they want to be accepted by all cultures and all countries. They could care less about having to wear the hijab. Important

They will tell you what may work for someone may not work for another. The irony here is there is only one way to life which is known as the straight path. Feminism for instance is causing people misery.

I think the problem in society today is that no one takes things seriously, no one realizes the effect these wars are having, people are incredibly sensitive or spoiled, gang crimes, where the economy is headed, the lgbt agenda, the education system is done the list goes on. They aren't serious people, most of them I can neither like nor dislike and never could hate them. They are just people with terrible opinions. Yes, I tried on many occasions to get them to care, it didn't work. Important

Pay very close attention to this, if you can accept more stories of tragedies about people who did the right thing, the more pious you will become. Important

Most women want a man who has chivalry. God knew that this concept would be ageless, so he shared it with us.

All this pornography will destroy the youth's brains. They have to develop in their teenager years, all this will do is confuse them and then they will have sex at young age and will not grow up not understanding that sex is a responsibility, it is a privilege not like eating fast food where it is not a big deal if you eat McDonalds twice a day.

The more fame you get by getting angry at people and going to jail or psych wards, all that does is get to your head. It doesn't make you happy that you are intimidating, sadly. For some reason what you may think is good is not. There was a guy at a psych ward who the cops and him have serious issues and they keep calling for backup when he is there. I am sure he would tell me it is not worth the trouble on top of the fact he knows the cops will rush at anything he's involved with and blame him immediately since he is in the system, and he will be for life. As I have shown before, women don't find it attractive at all. This means you can't use a woman to show off what you are clearly tough in some way. Because you are in the system and the economy sucks, you will never make good money. This guy I talked to was so smart he purposely quit work thinking it was not worth it. It will never get to the cop's head, they have plenty of backup, their therapists if they have them are well hidden, most people in America love them etc. Important

It varies based on the parent's concern of what their son or daughter is saying.

The way I see it is this is because Christians pray to Jesus, their prayers go to God even if they are catholic. Let's say a catholic is in on it and wants the third temple and believes in multiple gods, then their prayers go to nothing. Regardless that the false gospel is about a false Arabian fertility god named Jesus and there are freemason verses in it, their prayers still go to God. I know Muslims disagree with me on this, not all but I think most would. Important

All the leftists who support Islam because they hate either white people or Christianity, I have no reason to believe it will hold up. I am not fully certain, but I am pretty sure they are going to Hell for corrupting the earth claiming white people and Christianity is racist. Important

If you can get someone to quit America, they are not coming back. They may go back to religion, but they will never go back to supporting America. Important

With money you either have too little or too much.

If you can make the Mosques enjoyable and reaches everyone they will keep coming back since they go for experience. The majority I find do not want to talk about Palestine or Syria just a slight mention which is what happened at the Mosque I went to with someone delivering the sermon. The thing is too you have to keep drilling it in someone's head that the wahhab's are distorting Islam, your brain needs to be "brought up" to a point where you accept it as a fact something that is certainly big to accept. Important

We all have bias from life experiences but to what extent of this we don't know whether most or little of our beliefs where they stem from.

One thing I love about Islam is that you either believe 100% or you don't at all. This applies to any generation no matter what "scientific" thing is discovered in space, a book in which there is no doubt. The Angels, Muhammad, and Allah are telling us, did (we) the Angels not give this to you? Did (we) not tell you to explore the earth and all it offers?

The dollar doesn't have to collapse. All that has to happen is the economy has to be bad and a generation will come along and end the country because they want more money. So, keep costing money in America.

There is no indicator if someone wants to talk or not.

It's amazing how we can just watch everything making it unbiased. I watched zionists settlers taking over a Palestinian family's house by putting up a fence to fence them in. You get to see the two sides argue. Back in 2006 there wasn't a video of this, there were reports. Back in 1990, you could only have access to American journalists. Most if not all reports were in Arabic, still people don't want to get involved with Palestine. It amazes me to this day.

We know society will fail because society believes both parties are right when someone posts something blasphemous and claims to be Muslim that you don't understand Islam. This is an instance where clearly one is all right and one is all wrong. In religion, we have laws, if someone blasphemes Prophet Muhammad or claims lgbt is allowed for instance, they have no part of Islam. Important

All the Prophets would be in psych wards in America, they wouldn't put them in jails, they would not allow them to preach at all.

If women want a guy like Brad Pitt, it will go higher and higher where they want a guy with traits from Brad Pitt, Elon Musk, a politician etc.

Sex with many women turn you into an animal that you have no respect that you are simply used for sex. You feel people are using you and no one will like you. Because a few people may be able to sleep around their whole lives and not be miserable it is treated as a theory in psychology, completely overlooking this reality for psychology where in psychology it is about who is "most happy."

Colleges aren't meant to get you ready for the real world. I wonder why they are there then if it is just for fun since they are all party schools. They want you to party at college not to learn at all, so it is about the experience. The college teachers all want to be the good guy. They want you to sleep around, you end up miserable, you crash.

They use the word "philosophy" to cancel out religion and life. They cancel it out when describing the Quran saying you are talking philosophy when I'm trying to explain verses to them. The religion is called Islam, not philosophy. They keep saying religion isn't my thing. Whether they accept it or not, the world will end. So, you have to be religious in today's world it could easily end 20 years from now in our lifetimes. Someone told me philosophy is the study of life, no. Religion studies life. Philosophy would have to be something else whatever it is.

A psychiatrist told me to sit in the back of a Church, now I understand why. Religious centers don't function in America. The psychiatrist was good for something indirectly in this case. Important

All it takes is a group or so of 20 people who have ideas that will ruin a country and it will spread and spread. Others took it from them thinking it would bring them joy and success. So, when people told me something was contained that it could never reach in society because the system was set up in such a way where people would not take from this group of people, I knew it was not. Meanwhile most people say Russia will end the earth with WWIIII, they didn't see it as a distraction from what was happening at home.

They don’t want to be told how to “think” that’s why they are not religious. They claim it is because of morality such as claiming Islam is bad women’s rights. The reality is they don’t want to be told for instance not to accept gay marriage that’s really what is going on. It’s not that they do not trust religion, it’s that they do not like religion, but they just don’t want to tell you. Important

You don’t know who is an occultist in the mental health field and who is legitimately crazy and who is just sad or thinks the pills will improve their life somehow.

The youths’ dreams of being rich are unrealistic and it is causing them misery being told they can’t achieve them. Their parents either keep inspiring them and telling them they will achieve it, no parent will ever tell them they can’t. What happens is they feel like the world has cheated them because they graduated college and got a dead-end job. They then become miserable inside.

Bro is short for brother; they get it from religion even when they don’t intend for it.

More free time, more want for more material and higher experiences meaning more money spent on things that bring them no more joy than hanging out with friends outside.

To all the people who are catholic and instantly change the conversation when I bring up the errors in the Bible, you believe in faith blindly. Catholicism is about the Bible, unless if it is something it is not. It can’t take elements of Islam then if it really is this universal all religions faith since Islam accepts that Jesus didn’t die on the cross.

We humans always remember God even in the bad moments.

Respond exactly as such to all people who doubt Islam for other false beliefs that when Allah was needed, he was there for instance Moses being lead in Arabia out of Pharaohs bondage to Mecca and Muhammad conquering Arabia. Allah guided all the Prophets, the Prophets did not to it own their own.

Possibly all women want a man who has grown up. Muhammad teaches men to grow up. There is your answer ladies. When men are leaders in Islam, they are also incentivized by way of getting a higher level of Paradise and working to be a higher level of leadership in Islam to the point of a scholar.

“Love jihad” doesn’t work at all. It is a waste of time. It is an invention of the people of India alone, no other country in the world does this.

When people get angry, they lose track. Don’t reflect on any biases.

Trust is all or nothing, but it is made ongoing in America. Of course, it will end badly.

If you can convince someone that believing in God makes you overcome life than they will accept Islam.

There is clearly a Devil out there with the schizophrenia diagnosis.

Us Muslims don’t worship Muhammad; the Quran is obeyed by all the Prophets. Muhammad delivered the Quran. Muhammad is but a messenger.

You would have to use serious talks about the most serious conversations in order to win someone over to quit in America. This would make someone think critically. You can’t do that; they will think you are delusional. Giving them, all of this doesn’t work. Only some will listen to you.

Nothing causes addiction, it is just people trying to escape using drugs or videogames etc.

Sex will always be for reproduction; it takes a man and a woman to reproduce. This is a law of life.

They think you are bouncing things off passing ideas as conversation when you ask them question after question having zero clue why you do that, reading this you will know why.

What the youth does is cancel out word definitions by saying for instance they are negative people when at most they are negative for a small bit of the day. Negative is defined, you don’t get to claim to be negative because you perceive yourself that way, you would be wrong. It isn’t something you can just claim. Important

Content creators make as many videos as possible as quick of videos because they want as many views as possible but more so to make the viewer excited since short, quick content gives you a dopamine hit versus a long video, this is why TikTok is number one in views.

People who have no deity have no brotherhood. They believe the world is theirs no matter how much they insist they want the world to succeed. If there was something better, they would chase it. They own the world. They view themselves as superior.

Radical Islam doesn’t exist, it is all a lie. Important

No matter what your knowledge is, the only thing that matters on this earth is your status. Can you see how this would all end where everyone cares about it?

My dad didn’t want to drive me to get a blender. He then comes with this garbage excuse that because I didn’t hold the door open when I tried to, I “abused” him he said. He didn’t want to do it in the first place. This is what people do, they claim injustice when they don’t want to do a task. How pathetic you would have to be to do this to blame the other person that has some sort of problem. I had talked to him for over an hour before that with a worker at my group home, that seemed to go fine.

People think their life is a “journey”, a discovery. By typing this, I have completely the journey, I’ve shown everything and maybe it will discourage one person into not caring about this “journey” of yours that I don’t care about if I am the only person alive who realizes that all the wealth, all the praise, goes to nothing that’s what Prophet Sulaiman said in Ecclesiastes 1:12 that everything is meaningless and in 1:11 that nobody will remember you. Your job is about putting more products on the shelves or helping those in need in America through paid taxes, that sums up at least 90% of jobs.

This is a little bit early to say this, but you don’t get worse every year, you stay about the same once you accept Allah’s existence whether you give back or not. What happens is you dip so low and then from there it becomes accustomed, you either get good at it or you expect it, and you know it won’t get better or worse. Important

When you talk about a woman even negatively about the way she dresses, all that happens is you lust for the women more and more. You may think it is fun to trash a women’s dress, all it does is remind you of her that you think of her. Your life would become horrible if you trashed women 8 hours a day on the internet. The elites know that when women dress as if they are a slut, that backfires when men talk about them. They want you to talk about it in some way either very pro or very against it. That’s why they have feminists talk about the way they dress. It is the one thing you can never talk about that a woman does, anything else you can criticize, this is sad.

All these people in America, your standards are so high because the state is so high, that’s not actually who you are, and I can show you. When Massachusetts raises the standards, you raise your expectations of yourself. Were you wrong before, or did you always raise your standards when Massachusetts raised its standards. Now you have to have nicer things, work harder, find a more attractive wife, you must be happier, you must do with your life. Important

I can neither say life is fair nor unfair given what I have seen. I truly don’t believe the wicked live old and the good die young in that way of thinking. I just believe most humanity just wants nothing to do with what goes on outside of their country. To go deeper about this, what does fair look like to you? To everyone who wants equality it all looks different. Important

It's all a domino effect and I can prove it. People in the Middle East may be excited at first, over time what happens is they become angry and resentful. They don't want to watch the world fail. If America fails, their country worsens, making more problems. The more problems the world has, the more problems they have because the people in the Middle East must accept it. If America failed and it was built back up, it would be fine to cheer and then go back to their daily lives, but this ongoing and gradual, nobody wants to watch this. Important

There is no way of toughening someone up between books, working in a factory, discipline, fighting. That means it was already prewritten for the Prophets such as David to succeed at beating Goliath. We don't know what made David a small shepherd capable if by talking to our Lord that caused it or if he was just born that way. I am very confident anyone who talked to the Lord can have this done. Important

The best woman of the earth is now Kim Kardashian, the best women in religion were nothing like that between prayer, charity, no fame, no divorces, no scandals, caring for others, etc. Yes, I am aware that Kamal Harris has some traits in common with religious women, but Kamal is very left and the right now as I have shown is very pro lgbt. Point being there are many famous women, I don't think one is more famous than the other.

What is happening is people are so miserable in the world today that they spend more time on themselves, meaning more money spent. Whatever money they make, it goes to entertainment such as traveling. Yikes! Important

If you can't convince people of Islam just keep talking negative about what America does, get creative. Over time they will be very discouraged and that is just enough for it to fail, you did your part.

Even when they are talking about mental illness saying you don't know better the way you act, they still say it is never acceptable to murder and rape. Everything else such as stealing can be part of the mental illness, this even includes lying in a court, just something I thought was interesting that all patients are informed that it will never be accepted, yet you are told you have no control over your words and actions ever because you are mentally ill which would make no sense because it would be all or nothing. The point here is patients have been warned and will never get out of spending time in jail for those two actions. Again, I repeat, they were informed of this, something all Abrahamic faiths condemn.

What is a 5-minute drive in Palestine turns into a 40-minute drive because of all the checkpoints. Can you imagine if this happened to black people in America? Why do they not teach this in schools, they condemn segregation. This is accusing brown people of being terrorists. Is this example not segregation? Important

People don't want to hear that the world is not fair. So, what they do is try to make sure even the most minor thing is viewed as an injustice that needs to be fought. Something terrible will happen. When the world is unfair, we grow. The fairer it is, the less effort people will put in and then they will start complaining over nothing like the line at McDonald's. It helps develop character not being a millionaire. Important

Society wants to affirm you that you are right over the most minor things possible instead of telling you don't even reflect on it.

Countries will keep chasing being perfect so they will spend more money and get worse results because their expectations of life are too high. What happens is the standards are raised higher, the stress goes up for workers, the workload goes up, the cost then goes up because the workers expect more out of life. So, no matter how much money America gets, they will just waste it all on the sole reason alone people expect too much.

Go get everything what you are worth but don't get too much, that will lead to pride and your suffering through high expectations.

If you have a giant sign at a Mosque that says, "will give you purpose, meaning, self-betterment, the joy you are looking for" people will rush to it in today's world. Make sure to greet people, invite them in, make them feel like they had a great time. Tell them they are supported by Muslims worldwide that they are against discrimination. Also, people want religion to be part of their journey. If you can show them this, you will get converts. Important

People in society answer one question about religion and then change the subject.

The reasons why relationships seem so great at first is because at first you have sex every day with a girl and you are getting to know new things about her that you both enjoy doing together. It is misleading, the relationship was never that good to begin with.

The studies have shown women would rather share a man with another man they deem at a high status. They would rather be single their whole lives than marry an average man, women hold out all the time. We are also told Muhammad was a bad person because he had multiple wives which would make no sense at all since, he would be doing what a woman wants being at a high status and clearly the women wanted to marry him if that meant sharing him with another woman. At the end of the day, they wanted him. It was not by force either, they could have easily gotten a divorce if they wanted one. This is an example where all people care about in society is status! Important

You can just claim it is too challenging to work beyond 10 hours a week to work your way up or work at all. You can just say “I’m not good enough” all the time, this will get under people’s skins.

Even behind a woman’s back calling a woman a slut who is one is seen as misogynistic. In this instance, you have to lie.

If a woman acts obnoxious, she is a whore. Whores are at nightclubs. That would mean nightclubs would have to be shut down.

How to tell if someone is a good person is how they treat others. This way of thinking is false, it lets people get away with anything they post on the internet or do with their bodies. What you believe matters. Important

Everyone gets drunk every week at college. Colleges are not like hookup culture though if that is a “positive.”

Allah loved the 12 tribes of Israel. The 12 tribes loved what they did for him. Allah made it so everyone could easily become a Muslim. We are all the 12 tribes of Israel. 12 tribes, Abraham’s elite, Palestine, the Ummah, the Caliphate, the Christian kingdom, Jewish tribes of Arabia that sided with Muhammad, it’s all the same, it’s just done differently.

There is not one reason for everything, but the main reason covers 70-80 percent of it.

People don’t want to hear stories about others’ faults. To them it is negative. So, what this tells me is most only want to read part of this.

For most people when you tell them that you live in the real world, they just ignore it, not realizing what you are saying that no I am not perfect nor are you.

What I have learned about life is that no amount of knowledge or wisdom in life will make life easier or harder. If you have much knowledge, you become sad, if you have a little bit of knowledge, you become frustrated because tasks are much harder to complete for you since you don’t learn quick enough. The only way to toughen yourself is through life experience, and you may still be terrible at working in a factory.

If you can't answer deep questions to life and you have no drive in life, you have no right to sex or alcohol. You are not responsible as this would show.

What people don't seem to realize is that the people of the Bible and the Quran were very crafty, very willing, they wouldn't quit no matter what. They knew how to make it through life, and they would share the secrets they had with you, they were champions. They could never lose. I'm not just talking about the Prophets. I am talking about Abu Bakr, Umar, Ali, Fatimah, Khadijah, and Uthman. Also, Biblical figures such as the righteous Kings of Israel. Important

The only way to be righteous is through prayer. Yet people will try every method they can find through status, it is hidden.

They've gotten rid of all forms of discipline in exchange for talking about your problems. This is a step in the wrong direction. They will get more invested talking about their problems.

There's no way of preventing your brain from getting thoughts you don't want. All people will try to do is consolidate their thoughts through talking about them. They have to let go and move on, not harp on them.

Casually knock on your neighbors' doors and say, "hey can I talk about my problems with you, I would like to talk." That would be fun.

No matter what happened, Muhammad would approach life with a smile and a look of confidence that could not be shook.

You just forget that God wants you to get a good woman not one that is a horrible human being or does not care in the slightest. Since the beginning that is what God wanted for men. But a portion of men didn't listen and went for a girl that had no good in them at all.

When you leave the prayer, it all becomes impossible no matter how much knowledge you have.

Muhammad's laughter couldn't be beaten. Only a Prophets laughter was so distinct you knew immediately that a Prophet was laughing, and all would turn their heads to listen to it in amazement.

People cannot possibly break you no matter what. Allah will know who is trying to break you and who isn't.

Thousands of years will pass it will be the same things said about the Abrahamic faiths to condemn them.

Only Abrahamic faiths have Jesus's mother being a virgin while Jesus was conceived and born, no mythology contains such.

People like when you ask them how’s everything is going today. That’s the way to ask it.

The news is just to pump people up and get them excited for something. It works on most people in society. They find the stories people want to hear.

You can take this or leave this, but this is what I do. I believe I am the most inferior person the world has ever seen. That I have such little value since I cannot convince my brain I have no value at all. When you do this, it will end most pride in you, it will not end all of it however.

Everyone believes they are destined for the best on the earth, they will compete for it their whole lives and never settle for anything but it. The world will end, the world cannot possibly be like that and last forever where we all compete for power and influence.

It is divided the people who worship the Devil if they accept one God, or they are polytheist and believe in multiple false gods. I would say 70% of them are monotheist.

When you sin too many people quit on you, then you have to start over and hide your past. More proof religion was just to help you out.

All these drugs along with alcohol is doing is getting people to quit on each other because they don’t trust their friends and know that their friends have issues with them this is the opioid crisis. What happens is then people seek help for life since no one trusts them anymore. I don’t know what to think of this.

Do it for the right reasons and you may be successful, it will certainly go a long way in making the process easier.

A lady felt bad in Saudi Arabia for being the first girl there on only fans. She walked out of a podcast. Because she knew what she did was wrong. She is now known as the first girl in Saudi Arabia on only fans, that is not empowering at all.

Most people want to be heard if they are angry, just give them space and listen.

If your wife is a whore, it will always destroy you. That is a law of life.

These occultists view everything as symbolic such as the color of the park bench claiming it represents blood for some strange term. I don’t understand this.

Atheism could end the population of the world. People would lose hope fighting for a socialist cause where that's all their lives are about. If they were to reach this socialist "utopia", then what? What is there to do in life?

When you say, "the west" it confuses people, it is not "the west." It is all the world except for Syria, Iran, Iraq, and the West Bank. Important

Everyone has the happiest pet they will tell you.

A higher role means more responsibility despite higher pay to be a leader. Yet people aren't taught this, they always teach you to chase your dreams.

You will never know when someone says they want you to seek the help if they want to break you or if they are genuinely concerned.

Theft is bad because people want more and more when they steal. God was trying to protect people, not get rid of the "fun" they wanted.

Go to a strip club and say, "hey this place needs to be shut down, this place is haram", when they tell you that you must leave say "oh sorry man I thought I was in Iran, I forgot I live in America, my bad".

People's pride is too high that's why they resort to racism in today's world. They are not being racist for a thrill, and they are not neo nazis.

Andrew Tate said daesh were the "real muslims" because Andrew was an atheist and he believed religion causes more problems than it resolves, and that Islam is "violent." This was his attempt to bail himself out acting like he didn't understand that saying deash are the "real muslims" is wrong. I know he is never allowed to say something like that, and we all know he was not senseless 4 years ago when he said that. He was not trying to trap people so if ever he got hate mail he could say "look at how outraged Muslims are". He was not trying to belittle Muslims but to try to get Muslims to leave the faith, he is saying if you were a "real muslim" you would be "violent", not that daesh is the correct interpretation of Islam, he doesn't believe that at all. It gets even worse; he could have recruited some random 20-year-old for daesh by saying that where the guy doesn't understand that is not Islam.

You can talk to women about Islam. They will not think you are trying to hook up with them. Some guys may get jealous and harm you so be warned if you talk to someone's girlfriend about Islam. Get permission first if the woman is with a guy. Important People think so highly of themselves that every little thing annoys them. Historically, this was not the case. This is a new concept.

Once someone commits adultery once, how can they ever be trusted again that they won't give into their lust again?

When you tell someone that each generation is more work, they will say “well, the next generation may be less work”, but that’s never the case. It’s true the next generation may have less work, but not by much and the generation afterwards is always even more work!

Do you know how pathetic you would have to be to be a bully and then later on in life play victim all the time to get what you want? Think about it, you are now a victim? If I ever hurt you, I go to jail. Also, you are seeking help insisting you are a good person, you are not a good person, people have to tolerate you. You know all the laws to get what you want. You used to bully gay people, now you use them for a narrative to put people down who don’t agree with what you believe since you want everyone to serve you. You used a country you insisted you support and now you give the country nothing you cost a fortune after complaining about welfare fraud. Instead of just supporting America, now you support every country “people”, yet before you called them “terrorists”. This is proof the world was always yours; you found a method that works better. Because you are so deep in being a victim, you will never go back to being a bully, comical.

The talmudists must not know what they are reading. The talmudists want a perfect earth. Muhammad wanted a perfect earth; thanks to archelogy we know he is an Israelite. How is Muhammad not your Final Prophet unless if they are polytheists which their leaders clearly are. That alone is proof. Yet people argue all day that Muhammad isn’t in the Torah we have today. All the talmudists care about is the “third” temple. They knew Muhammad does NOT want a “third” temple. Because the talmudists corrupt the earth with at minimum a portion of their followers, we know Islam is correct because it says do not corrupt the earth in the Quran.

Most of the time people with serious injuries recover over time, they figure it out.

Drugs over a consistent time will distort your brain and thinking forever. Yet they are pushed by way of legalizing weed and concerts are flooded with them. One heroin injection does not cause someone to no longer feel they are a good person.

People want to achieve perfection that seems to be the goal of humanity, that’s the goal of each religion. When they don’t get perfection, they crash because they are not satisfied with who they are. The standards are going higher for humanity, more people will crash each year because they did not achieve their perfection they wanted, it made them want it more and more. Important

Tell the public that Islam empowers women.

When you hear that you are getting under someone's skin, sometimes they want to fight you. End the conversation immediately and walk away.

When you try to debate religion with someone at best, they think you are being argumentative or are trying to push beliefs, at worst they think you are trying to break them because they have no intent of converting and they think you are trying to mock their knowledge/judgement. They think you have no respect for what they believe such as Christianity.

What happens is people you once knew from childhood that were great people, once they find an ideology they like and they become bad people gradually, they become uglier and uglier every year until you no longer recognize them. There has been study after study done that once they are gone, they will not come back, ever.

The best thing you can do for yourself with faith is to simply convince yourself that the "third" temple could never work, that it would collapse immediately, and people would fight for power the whole-time causing humanity to fail. I personally know it would never work. It's a bunch of random, narcissistic, demanding, controlling, cynical, people who can never get along. They will never have my support, ever. Important

Only in Abrahamic faiths does the concept of whore exist. All you get is "bad karma" in hinduism.

All Muslims have to believe that justice will always be served if Islam were to run the world. Islam does not have to make a utopia where suffering ends for good, but Islam would have to be put in so that we all want good for each other. Muhammad said you will not get into Paradise until you wish for your brother what you wish for yourself. Islam is about wishing good for others.

The more you sin, the more the cost you pay. The more people quit on you and the less respect you can get.

Material such as cars is not just for praise, it can also be to remind you why you work. I initially thought a BMW was just for praise since we all know it is not worth the extra cost.

Taking advice won't radically change someone. We all need advice on some sort of field. Don't ever argue advice, just say thanks to it.

Most friends will not give up on you only after a few instances where you don't listen to them to learn. People don't think apologies are sincere even if they are your friends.

You can post everything about yourself on the internet but remember that people can change so you must hold on to your values at all times despite the fact you believe in your values.

A good amount of people will leave part of the truth out when talking to you. Overall, a good amount tell the whole truth.

The way they cancel all of this out is they say that's a trigger for you when you see something referencing abortion. They then say everyone has triggers. For the believers we will never accept seeing an abortion emblem. That's not a trigger. A trigger is something caused by trauma. We Muslims don't have trauma. It's a law of life that will disturb all believers.

Islam teaches us how our brain functions, not how to think.

Some people claim there is no hope in the world. It's not true, there is plenty of hope in Syria, Yemen, the West Bank, Iraq, and Iran. In fact, Prophet Isa will return during End Times from Syria. Syria is set for End Times; Syria is set for it. Important

If you can say what is on your mind and you keep it "real", you will win the youth easily! My material appeals to people in their mid-20s earliest, it is meant for people 30 to 50. This material will only reach 10% of them at most. Important

The sewers are broken because they skip maintenance so many Arab countries smell bad but not terrible. The tap water is bad in many Muslim countries.

It doesn't happen that much where a parent kicks out their gay son or daughter in the Middle East. Parents get outraged when their daughter doesn't marry as a virgin, at times they get executed for this.

Muslim women are very feminine. Eastern European Christian women are very feminine. West European "christian" women are feminist.

When people are bombed, they either become radicalized or they want to live life more with more fun.

After one year of being in the ghettos, the talmudists wrote to give up on their false god. That's how quickly they give up. The talmudists use their false god for a narrative to say, "we are right, you are wrong about this". When Iraqi women were losing their children from bombs, they said God would give them patience.

All they talk about on most podcasts is respecting each other and how to find respect. Also, it is about how to better understand yourself and others.

I see no need for it. If you get something out of it then good but to each their own.

Qatar is the country that is luring people to what they think is Islam, not Dubai.

I clearly remember it was fun to watch people's videos back in 2008. All the fans of the content creators felt a part of it and the content creators gave insight on something worthy to talk about. Now all of the videos are for FAME! It's not a competition, not a community.

When someone says all the imam is trying to do is control them, you can respond by saying all the imam is trying to do is help you. They can't even argue that.

When the slightest things impress you in life, indeed you are grateful.

When your boss or coworker is yelling at you, just say "I don't want this to escalate, I understand where you are coming from but we need to end this" this will get you out of the conversation every time. It makes you seem like you're the good guy when you are tricking them.

The world is covered by God except for 85% of India and 97% of China, 94% of Thailand, 91% Burma and other parts of Asia. Do you need more evidence than this?!

Faith exists, you can trust Paradise is perfect without going to it. That's how faith works, it is all or nothing, either you have faith or none at all.

It depends on your reaction if you have trauma or not. You can tell if you have it. You can't claim it if you have moved on from the event. It is trauma if you never get over it. Not if it comes back and you are over it.

Always have something to strive for in life. Always have something to get up for no matter how minor it is you will want it for life. I know why I get up.

What I am spelling out is yes America may not be wrecked now but eventually it will be destroyed for good from within. America is lucky it has lasted. It didn't have to end in 2008 during the financial crisis but even looking at 205 for instance it makes you wonder is this really meant to be? Is this really working? How much longer can it be sustained? America will have the same problems and will not fix them. No generation will be able to figure out the environment that is set up. I don't want to go into detail, but the environment would have to be overhauled. There are so many areas that need to be done away with for good.

Everyone will compete for more joy they will work for it. This means more worldly life.

You know yourself best. You don't need anyone else to tell you how to better yourself or better understand the world around you.

Wherever you go they have thousands of rules that keep expanding such as corporate.

It's in human nature to want to get along with everyone and to see good in people. That is how God made us. Important

You will never beat the law no matter what. You cannot talk your way around it. It took me years to understand this. Always know the laws and their punishments.

People will do anything for clout. This is not 2005 anymore. Here's an example, women will dress like an anime character in order to get a guys attention. Logan Paul buys Pokémon cards that he's not even into to get more views, I bet years ago he thought Pokémon was dumb and childish. Everyone live streams videogames now and they feel they must get good at it so they can get more viewers on the internet, with more viewers they get more Twitter followers.

All people of the earth hate the Devil. None like him no matter what they say or do. Satan gets mad at this when you tell him what to do. Satan will take some of your advice, Satan will not take orders from you nor serve you. Satan has his flaws you will see them, he's a jinn, not an Angel. Important

Some women are into guys who went to jail, most are not. This means jail is not to be done for that. Less and less people trust you, nobody wants you to work for them, and people are always cautious, so it doesn't benefit you in anyway.

People believe that humanity will be like Star Trek in the future and that humanity is making incredible leaps. No, things are not changing at all. They could get a bit better, a bit worse, or seriously worse, generations and the environment won't change much unless you consider Chipotle, new music, different people doing podcasts, an innovation of our time, absolutely there will be more of that. Also, Star Trek is unattainable if you read the Quran.

When we Muslims talk about how the zionists run the world, the public thinks we are playing victim since they took our land in Palestine, so the public will not listen.

Everyone is going public with their wrongdoings talking about their past history with drug and alcohol abuse. You're not supposed to go public about this. From some odd reason they do this for everything but talk about who they had sex with. More people will do this to try to get fame and attention.

This is how trust is lost. They only look at the present. They figure as long as you seek the help you are a new person. It doesn't benefit anyone hearing all these stories to relate to, not one of them. This should all be made private with books written by psychologists. There should not be all this on the internet, it is concerning to hear about someone's suffering. I know society looks at your current state which I accept, but this is still wrong to do. Religion is explicit of do not tell your sins to the public; drunkenness is a major sin. Important Christians call everything scripture. This means they count the Talmud as scripture. Muslims do not count the Talmud as scripture.

Reader, since I like you, I can't explain how off it is that guys do not want me talking to their girlfriends or wives. When I was 20 even, no women wanted me, a guy would laugh if I talked to his girlfriend knowing she wants no part of dating me. I had never thought in a million years this would happen nor did I think I would weigh over 140. It is a feeling I cannot put in words. Remember too that I liked who I was when I was 20. I didn't care no women wanted me, admittedly it did bother a bit. I don't know to be honored or what, I can't make up my mind. If you play your cards right, you will really believe you are meant for women that they would want you.

No matter what they have shown the talmudists won't betray their rabbis and teachers who teach deviation, nor will they betray their zionist state. We've given them the proof that Allah is one. No matter what sign you give them, they will not believe.

Provided you try your best to love God the most, God will love you the most.

We were not alive during the time of Prophet Muhammad, so we don't know what the Muslim faith was like nor what the people were like. We get a sense.

One issue I have with Christians is that they believe warfare even defensive is never allowed. That's your land, you conquered it, you deserve it, you protect it. You're not teenagers where you cannot fight. I am all for this pacifist approve IF and only if Christians lived in America and their churches were destroyed with them in it where America is not their country (though they act like it is ironically enough). If for instance there was a Christian country in the Middle East let's say Libya, then they have to defend it. By doing this, you are claiming there should never be a Christian country and that you are being hypocritical when you bash Islam for conquering Christian Kingdoms during the Caliphate spread. What I also don't understand is that Christians are highly judgmental. They are judging people to support America is really it since they live under the country's laws. You're judging people who don't want to be both Christian and America. This does not apply to the Christians such as pastor Steven Anderson who have defected.

I have been told I am a little bit misogynistic at times since I speak in "generalities". When someone is called a misogynist or an incel for criticizing women, what it does it tells the guy that he must not criticize a woman that only woman can criticize women. This would be fine for if only woman can criticize women, but you as a guy have to marry a woman. The last thing I would want to do is tell a woman how to think and act, but all this will do is lead to more divorces. I don't want to stoop and say women can criticize men and I can't criticize women; I want women to criticize me. In this instance, society has cancelled out all constructive criticism of women. You have to take my word that if it were vice versa, I would be upset if us guys could not be criticized. Don't play me and say that women are very delicate beings so they can't be criticized, then my advice is for all women to stay off the internet for good. I don't want a world where if I can't criticize women than I will put it back on women that they cannot criticize me ever claiming that they are being unfair. We live in a society that has high standards for humans, what this would do is raise the standards for both men and women. I am aware some of what I say may be misogynistic I am not perfect, if any of it is incel which I have no reason to believe that you must correct me every time and yes we will disagree if it is such. I appreciate that you trust I am not trying to put women down at all.
Important

Always be on the side of who is right when two other parties are involved, that way you are always fair since you know you did the right thing. If it is a Muslim who is in trouble and is wrong, try to work with them to calm them down but you can have their back anyway.

The hadiths are to organize the material needed after the Quran. With the Bible when they wanted to add material, they did it. With the hadiths there is a set amount it was not added to nor subtracted.

If humanity is making leaps and bounds and could be like Star Trek in 200 years, how come the elites are trying to end the earth? Either they know humanity has peaked or they want power that bad that they would simply not care that their "third" temple comes before Star Trek on the earth since they do everything in their power to end the earth.

Satan will promise you power, it is mere delusion from Satan. He has a goal, but no plan how to divide the power between you or him.

With authority, just say “yes sir” every time. It will get you out of it. Give simple answers, don’t rebuttal ever.

Because people believe they are being taught rules they don’t want religion. This makes no sense at all, we need rules in life in fact they want rules, they don’t want me to touch their belongings. They don’t steal or lie or cheat. Just because it looks appealing to me people figure it is not appealing to them. It really is all or nothing, I don’t know what percent, but Islam has to tell them so much of what they want to hear. That’s part of the reason why the Quran says the disbelievers follow their own desires, it couldn’t be truer. Important

The more familiar they are to religion the more they like it. That’s how to lure them. The rest, the more you show them about Islam, the more they hate Islam.

They call it “murder” if you execute a woman who is a whore. This is how they cancel out the laws of life in society by calling justice “murder.”

One thing you must accept is that the caliphs, if they had to do something they would do it. This means if Umar had to put someone down, he would since he followed Muhammad’s orders. This would be the opposite of Christianity where the false disciples on purpose would not harm a single person and were willing to be beat up or executed for it. In Islam the caliphs were not allowed to be abused in any way they were taught to fight back or to walk away. Important

With most of the religious leaders today, they are not worthy of it. They want you to be in charge of everything. All they want to do is be a positive influence on you, that way they can get the most clout, they tell you what you want to hear not what you need to hear! All the religious leaders care about is being accepted by everyone in some way not understanding that it doesn’t work that way. Sure, they do have their twitter drama is what it is, that’s for nothing, that’s just two different people arguing over how to live their lives. What I see is effort from the religious leaders, but no results, what they are doing isn’t working. Maybe someday what they are doing could, I doubt it though. Important

If God didn’t exist, then there would be no reason to continue humanity. Be fruitful and multiply. It is with reason. Without God, there would be none at all. I can’t think of a reason to continue humanity even if for instance you were deeply committed to supporting a country. Even with science people say there is so much to explore but even the scientists know it is not infinite. I don’t believe “aliens” exist so there is nothing else in the galaxy except many planets.

A real prayer to God is to respect other people if that's what you want. Believe me, it goes a long way.

It is prohibited to assume what the Prophet would do or say.

What can be fun on the earth is to see what people boast about each year like cars or climate change protests.

They get used to the lifestyle of music, it becomes them, and it isn't who they are. Most times it doesn't ruin them, but for a small portion it consumes them. The real problem is music convinces people that it will save humanity by making songs since so many people praise singers like Rihanna, it gets to singers' heads that they are that amazing that music plus the personality they have will do it, it never has, it is still just music no matter how widespread it is.

No one can use the Bible to deny the Quran. No one can use the Quran to deny the Bible. We don't know what the Bible is getting at. We have theories for what the Bible is getting at. I will give you an example. Abraham traveled from Babylon to Egypt and settled in Palestine in the Bible. It turns out none of that is true. With the Quran, we know exactly what the Quran is trying to tell us. All these dialogues of Jews and Christians have with us Muslims go nowhere every time since the Quran is separate from the Bible whereas Jews would just have to accept the false gospel. In Islam, we Muslims accept the Bible has many errors. It isn't a matter of accepting Jesus as the Lord. Since we Muslims agree on the basics like don't steal, don't commit adultery, Monotheism, people open the dialogue where it always goes nowhere. Maybe if I watch years and years of it, I will know why it does, but I get a sense.

When people lose hope or see no purpose, they turn to God.

When you share how serious much of this is, the public thinks you are having a casual conversation and they respond by not understanding what is going on when you say you've quit on some famous figure. They think you are upset, that's not it at all. They think you want good for the famous person you have quit on. They don't understand you have condemned that famous person to Hell. They think you are trying to say "well, you know it should be this way". Important

There is no guarantee that bullying will cause someone to quit their dreams for good. It sometimes does this. 20% reported that they have experienced mental health issues from it, the rest were fine. Bullying is not that serious except in this instance which sometimes happens. Yet bullying is trying to be prevented to no end in the schools. I've shown it doesn't need this much attention. Given what I have shown you, this to me doesn't sound like something that teachers need to fight at all costs but that is how it is treated. The real issue schools have is drug use and depression. If the teachers fix those two issues, then results will come.

When you get extremely angry, you don’t crash.

Having a woman their support will not cause you to be more dependent if you keep seeking it, thankfully. This means you can seek a woman’s support all day long. It is not a drug by no means.

Just say you slipped and when you say something horrific, people will believe you.

Young men are always targeted by the likes of Jordan Peterson, Andrew Tate, Liver King. Of all the age groups, they have it by far the worst! The young men who follow these three people will be so disappointed one can imagine what that will do to their self-esteem in the current state if these young men don’t rush out from it immediately. If you are passionate about being like Andrew Tate, I understand since it is working out for you. If it isn’t, you have wasted your life trying to be a guy that taught you how to think in the disguise of knowledge. That’s sad, I hope young men get out of it quick when they are lured by these people.

Most meaning 90-95% of Americans want nothing to do with the Middle East. They know this will bring them criticism. Americans want no criticism at all unless it comes from the Democratic or Republican party who is fighting their team of being Democrat or Republican. Then they love to insult the other party. They want to make sure the Islamic faith is never insulted by them. I don’t know the extent the Christian faith is insulted; I would say low or medium.

You can look at all other religious people as being inferior for not being Muslim. This is certainly allowed to do. I don’t do this in any way unless they insult Islam first. As long as you are not trying to degrade them or anything past that but just show you don’t respect them at all, that’s acceptable. You are free to laugh at Christians. You can certainly argue that someone is deaf, dumb, and blind for not being Muslim. If they support Palestine, I think by then you should just leave it be. If you do this, people will think you are deeply cruel if you tell them they are inferior, that’s what will happen. You can tell them all that matters is being Muslim.

Here's what you do, tell your coworkers that they don’t understand the Islamic faith, so they are not giving you the respect you deserve. Tell them that they have to better understand the faith so they can respect you that having Muslim friends is not enough and they have to research the Islamic faith and the culture that they could have a better understanding of Muslims as people. Just don't say that they are "Islamophobic", tell them they are not "Islamophobic" nor "racist" but that they don't understand you and that they are good people.

Always remember, as a Muslim you get the Prophets, all the Biblical figures, all of Muhammad's wives, Maryam the best woman ever given to the world, as many Muslim friends as you could ask for this also includes non-Muslim friends, the Angels, all the historic Muslims, plenty of the historic Jews and Christians, and Allah's respect. Or, you can have your social media stars respect. If you blame the people listed for not having the social media stars respect, all these people including the Angels and Allah accepted you for who you are. They wouldn't quit on you. You choose, it can't be both. Important

Let's say you saw someone wearing wiccan boots, you cannot tell them that they support cults, and they are in one to wear that because they don't view wiccan as a cult despite the evidence you have shown them that it is. They want to believe everything, but racism is acceptable by them, that wiccan is a part of them because they want the right to wear it because when they see something they like, they want to share it with others how it defines them and brings them joy. if they wear wiccan boots, then they are wiccan, this is not debated. They always want you to be viewed equally to them and they want to share their beliefs with you. They will not listen to you in any way. People don't think someone is trying to leave an impression on you the way you dress. Truthfully, we don't know who is and who isn't. People don't want to be asked why they wear what they wear knowing they will be criticized for it, so they shut down. If you wear wiccan boots it does not mean you are expressing yourself. It is a serious warning sign that you are in a cult. The public figures anyone can claim Islam is a cult the same way you can claim being wiccan is a cult. They will tell you that they do not want to talk about their wiccan boots, and they expect you to accept it. We live in a world where you are not allowed to question anyone for what they wear, yet most are buying them for the design which is a dumb decision on their part. That means no one is allowed to challenge why I dress Islamic or why a Muslim woman wears a hijab. That would be hypocrisy since they claim a hijab is oppressive, but they will allow for you to question why they wear wiccan boots. If someone is wearing wiccan boots, they are wiccan, end of the discussion. Get your act together Massachusetts. Important

It can make you strong that you have your challenges in life. It doesn't make you weak. It shows you can overcome serious hurdles.

We all have highs and lows.

Judah means the Jewish people. Yet the talmudists call the land they stole from the Palestinians by name of “israel”. To me, it doesn’t make complete sense. I mostly understand. But do the talmudists acknowledge they could have the name of their zionist state wrong? Do people not know how big that is? Their false messiah may never come to give them their “third” temple if the name is wrong for their country where it is supposed to be “judah” and not “israel”.

The more the disbelievers give you trouble, the more it means you are doing the right thing. That won’t hold up someday especially with the wahhabs distorting Islam. It worked in the past to get people to believe in what they do, it won’t in the future.

The elites must think they have us in checkmate between running most of the world and trying to run all religions. They don’t. We still have our countries that they have failed year after year to influence. It frustrates them like you cannot imagine.

Islam teaches to restrain anger; this means you can get angry. Restrain can mean to keep under control, just be wise about it.

People just want to view you in a certain way. When you tell them things they wouldn’t want to hear. They walk away, hours later they talk about something else. They don’t want to believe you are this. It bothers them to hear someone will not tolerate what the world does. Meanwhile everyone comes and goes, I don’t know why their input would even matter. That’s not even right, for people to think I must do what they want. I’m not going to allow you to view me highly because I don’t tell you my political and religious beliefs you don’t like.

If you are going to tell me that your job is important and defines who you are, why is your wage so terrible, why is your job so demanding, why do you work in a service field of people that don’t try, or why do you produce material that nobody needs to be put on the shelves at Walmart? Seriously! When are you going to live in the real world?

Now that they have the upper hand, they will call you a “doomsday cult member” these were the same jerks who trashed America years ago, now they have the upper hand and America is no longer religious. These jerks were willing to at all costs be told that they make no sense by the whole country, now they claim you make no sense at all. It shows you have no values; you only do what is convenient. It made them feel big being called insane by America when it was much more religious, now they want to hear they are these moral, upright people. Heck, they are such sell outs, maybe they will go back to being called insane in the impossible event America becomes run by religion again. What snakes that now they are about building their pawns up when before all they wanted to do was discourage you to the point you would quit religion.

Remember, everyone views themselves as fair on this earth. As we all know, there are unfair people on the earth. The unfair do not have marks on their foreheads to show they are not fair. So, what happens is clash after clash. When a conflict emerges, someone has to end it, the unfair are not going to end it if they do, then they will find more people to start a conflict with, the fair people then feel bad inside because the world was not fair to them, they view it. Do you see how this can fail?

They will tell you we can't have a religious database where everyone's beliefs are on it because someone can change religion. It would still work because they would have to be asked by religious authorities why they changed their beliefs.

People will not convert to Islam for one person. No matter who you are, any age, gender, looks, ethnicity, political beliefs, status, they will not convert. Also, the disbeliever's figure there are other religions to pick from. So, they figure why listen to a Muslim? They change the subject after one question is asked to them. They won't listen to the case you make to them. I have never been asked any question on Islam when I start the conversation, ever. When they try to refute me, they change the subject instantly afterwards in instances they know I am right. No matter what your approach is, it will not work. As I was correctly told, they will not convert for one person. So, if you are firm, if you are rich, if you are outgoing, if you are messing with other people, they will still not convert. Let's say you could do all these things together proficiently where you could make many friends, people still would not convert. When you preach they will say that's one perspective, it will never work. This means there is no point in preaching. The disbelievers get so little out of what I have typed. Important

When someone doesn't want to answer a question, then you cannot ask them a different question about the same material. This shows you can't make progress with someone.

All religions want a fair earth, they will clash with each other at some point but have different means of getting to a fair earth. This clash is inevitable, and it has happened all throughout history. Important Jews do not welcome Muslims nor Christians to synagogues. But we Muslims accept everyone of any faith to visit.

If it is not recognized by Islam meaning by the scholars, then it is a cult. That means anything not yet deemed People of the Book till it is by the scholars, it is a cult, end of discussion. Important

Without God, you don't have much of a purpose. Years ago when I was in college, I thought I was so cool finding out that America is run by freemasons and they are sick people thinking that no one knows this but me. It turns out most people don't even care, they don't see how that is a part of their life. You may preserve knowledge, the overwhelming majority don't care, that was my purpose. It may mean so little, but to me it meant so much. You're just wandering the earth having no clue what to do.

If someone tells you they don't know if God exists and they say religion doesn't define them, I don't know if they are lying or not. If they are telling the truth, they must be incredibly dumb that no matter what number of books they read, they could not conclude yes.

A college teacher told me it is capitalism that new music is put out quickly because the radio stations have played the same songs over and over again as much as possible. That's life, he falsely used the word "capitalism" here, new material has to be put out, new trends, all the stuff in the malls and the songs on the radio get old. As if the radio stations played the same songs for a longer period of time less frequently, the public still wouldn't want it.

I want to be a professional, but I don't want to take America seriously, that's part of being a professional, taking pride in your work, if you think America is some joke, you're not going to get both. Either your life is a joke, or you are a professional. Another thing too, if you think everything is a joke, all you will be able to work for is minimum wage, no employer will want you. They want you to take the job seriously.

One thing that bothers me, people want to "be themselves" but what they really want is praise and admiration. Unless owning a Lexus is part of who you are, which makes no sense. Part of who you are is driving the best vehicle you could buy. You are declaring that is you, wasting money on a more expensive car. That's not "self-betterment".

All that is going to happen is sex will go higher. The average for women is 7.2, that number will go to 17 I believe within 30 years.

I'm on Instagram right now, I'm not impressed at all by anyone's profile, I can't find one.

I remember when I went to the basketball hall of fame and I thought it was historic, I was 17 years old. I enjoyed going and learning things. Years later it is like "ok", it is a little bit fun to learn new things about sports, but I don’t care much anymore. At that time, I thought I would always watch sports, has life changed or what.

What could be happening is this, the less money America has, the money they have towards funding wars in the Middle East. The more money we Muslims cost, the less money they have for bombs in Syria. This could be true that America won’t have enough bombs where they have to stop. What also could be true is that their economy will collapse from the money they have wasted. So, it is your choice to think of what will happen when you cost them money, it’s your call. I can’t say yes or no if America’s economy will collapse. Important

There is nothing in Palestine as far as religion goes. People will keep seeking all around Palestine, they won’t find anything, yet they dedicate their whole lives looking for power or something else. Palestine religiously has no value at all, it is still for the Palestinians alone whatever value they put to it. Every religious artifact, almost all the stories, and the Gardens of Eden are in Arabia. Important

To get a sense how much work it is to run a country such as Iran. Iran executed over 500 people in 2022 this is one year alone; this doesn’t include the 450 protesters who died. I don’t know how those who were executed present themselves, I would wager most if not all the people executed, they come off as innocent as possible when we know most of them are occultist who believe they have found a false god and go against the government where they lie to officials every time. Iran must investigate it correctly and make sure the person is not mentally ill and goes against the government where they have a plan to end the country. Meanwhile, most people on Twitter condemn Iran for doing this and the U.N. threatens sanctions for this. Whoever executes these criminals will be judged for this, meaning they the Iranian officials want to make it sure and yes, they have the right to do this Quran 5:33, they could have put the enemies of Islam in jail, but they chose this path instead. For all I know, it may be very easy to identify where someone claims an injustice against Iran claiming Iran is not Islamic, that the zionist state is innocent that Iran is trying to launch WWIII, or they claim that Islam goes against human rights. Think of how bad Syria has it where Bashar Al-Assad says put down your guns and you can go free, Assad doesn’t want to do the work of seeking each person in the fsa and al nusra front and asking them why do you go against the government, Assad’s government will do this if he has to.

The scholars need to address Andrew Tate and tell him to leave for good. To act as if Andrew will give up this act is a lie, and they know it. Ridvan Aydemir should not be the one calling out Andrew Tate. Those who disbelieve are further feeling they are right to do so because of this. Yes, a few of Andrew Tate's ideas I believe are good, the rest are horrific and could do serious damage to the Ummah! Andrew is going to get worse and worse; the youth will keep taking from him. Thanks a lot scholars, you scholars do nothing! This looks even worse for us Muslims!

Welfare is bad because most people in it feel bad inside because they didn't reach their goals in life and dreams of owning a home or going to the job they wanted.

What I found out is that when you get to know someone, you care what they think of you. It happens every time, you can't just neglect it despite the fact you may think less of them.

Be cautious of the disagreements you get into, the larger the scale, the more terrible you will feel inside.

Don't comment on a way a woman dresses. What will happen is she will never talk to you again and it falls on you that you lost another woman being Muslim, this fails every single time. If a woman doesn't dress Islamic where she dresses incredibly think of the word, leave it be. Important

Always talk about something different with someone when an argument breaks out. Give it a few hours. This works every time. You don't have to talk about what you just talked about.

80% of adultery happens in the workplace.

The genius thing to do is argue Islam could never work in America since America uses us to say that Muslims make for great neighbors and Americans are tolerant of Muslims. So, you know, not only do I speak against doing this since you will be judged for it, you know Islam will not leave America.

I am perceived as annoying not trying to get under people's skins though I do, that is by accident when I do and that I am not trying to break someone thankfully.

Despite being told that they would get the top layer of Paradise, they would be the best people ever of their generation, Islam is the straight path in life, given every answer possibly needed, the disbelievers still wouldn't listen.

The best thing you can do is wish for peace, keep confirming what believers are doing is right, tell them about the good they do, tell them the Ummah is striving.

You will be perceived as your way is the only way.

All religions believe justice is a requirement of their faith. Each faith knows justice differently in today's world where it all means something different. We know they will all clash at some point. Like I said, this will come from the bottom to the top.

The people who say religion is between the person and our Lord, that doesn't work in today's world anymore. There is gay marriage and abortion. People got these rights, and they abused them. In some way you will have to say what humanity is doing is wrong. Nukes as well.

The Prophet and his companions would get so hungry they would tie two stones over their bellies. It took two stones to prevent hunger for them.

If all you do is rip on me, that makes me your inferior, that doesn't mean you are my homie. These kinds of people don't like it when I insult them ever.

Men have it far more difficult int he world then women. It's not just the divorce system where women almost always get custody. Men are not being taught to be emotional by most celebrities. Men must be leaders. Men have a strong desire to be with a woman, women do not have this desire at all. Men always feel they are let downs because their expectations for themselves are so high. Men must pay for the household. Their role models are far worse than women. Andrew Tate asks the most of you, Kim Kardashian just asks for women to get lip injections. Men also are taught to compete with other men instead of work with other men. Men are targeted by men who are rich and famous and are taught that is the life they must live; this never happens to women where they feel they must make 6 figures or else they are a failure. Women are taught to completely, but it is solely their choice. Their car doesn't matter nor do their looks, a woman chooses to look good or not. If a man doesn't look good, then he's looked down on as lesser meaning men cannot be too skinny or too overweight. Men feel they must get respect from both other men and women. A woman doesn't feel she needs the respect of men or women. A woman just needs compliments being told "that's cute" or "wow, you are smart!" Yes, I am aware I am a man typing this. These are the challenges us men must face. If you think women have it more difficult than men, you can make the case to me, I will listen. Important

If you want to try to impress Allah, tell him religion is a priority.

Shias believe Noah was so big that he could go from 1 step from Arabia to Egypt. This is obviously false. The Ark would have been gigantic.

This is what I will say, whatever magical things may have happened in Ancient Egypt, it's not what you think, it's at a small scale, and the rest of what is taught through the hieroglyphics today is false. Either the hieroglyphics are being translated wrong, whatever they tell you is lies, or the stories are not theirs and they plagiarized them from Arabia. Whatever is in the hieroglyphics, you don't need to know. The hieroglyphics speak of the Heavens and also the pyramids are to face the Heavens. Important

When someone says, "any religion is possible, we will never know", tell them that they are giving scientology a chance.

People left religion and now they turn to celebrities to define who they are as people. That's North America and Europe's state it will always be in, religion will never return, it's gone.

All it does by telling someone they are a victim of being a minority, it causes them to feel bad inside like they are not good enough. That means more people feel bad about themselves in what was "good intent" by the liberals. As you know, when they feel bad inside, they feel cheated in life. When they feel cheated in life, they have much lower self-esteem meaning more anger and more sadness. This is the cycle the liberals do. The elites know it.

Prophets had such highs and lows. I know this because when Muhammad talked to Gabriel for the first time, Khadija covered him with a blanket at their place. He must have been in a state of amazement. Elijah as example was seriously depressed for a long time. That's a bad low. Important

All I ever see is video after video of lecturing of someone thinking they are doing the right thing by addressing how there are people in the Muslim community that want to bring down others down. A few things, they only have to address it once. Also, each video is the same message, so this is excessive. Third, what happens is others watch this and claim injustice that there are problems withing the Muslim community. The more injustice claimed, the more people want to leave Islam. By making these videos, it has shown that no one person claiming to be Muslim who wants to put people down will stop doing that. Also, people are being lectured by this guy and it is discouraging to constantly hear, it doesn't reinforce doing the right thing at all. Meanwhile, they become more sensitive from making it. But the Muslims who make these videos arguing with me that these videos go somewhere and help the community. I have not seen this in all my years reason to believe in the future it ever will. Like I said these videos will just keep being made. Important

If you feel you are inferior in some way, no matter who you are or what you believe, the best advice I can give always is to find other people who support you. Find something that reminds you that you are worthy of the achievements you have earned. Always hold on to it nearby. Important

You have to believe that no matter what happens on the earth at any time in history, justice will be service. Important

Some people have so much wealth, they forget God gave it to them. From there they move on from religion.

My advice is don't cater to anything that becomes an argument. Let it go, walk away. It may make you feel big arguing with someone, all that happens is you keep thinking about it and you want more and more revenge on people. If you feel you must say something, say it once.

Once people leave religion, they never talk about the issues of the Ummah nor will they talk about Palestine anymore, if they do, then seldom will they talk about it, and we live in a world where Palestine gets forgotten.

There are plenty of people on the earth who do not want to say anything bad about anyone or anything bad about people historically. That's not how it works, there is evil on this earth, there are people who want to spread corruption claiming their beliefs are to better society when their goal is for power and for others suffering.

I met a girl who said she couldn't be defined by any religion or non-religion. That's not how it works at all. There's a title for her, it is more likely agnostic, there aren't many religions or non-religions to pick from.

You have to make up your mind. Come up with an approach after getting to know your coworkers in a month. Don't act one way one month and one way the next with the people you meet and work with. You are allowed to give people a second chance, but don't leave them after that, it makes you look confused.

In psychology you will never know who wants the help, who needs the help, who is an occultist, who doesn't try, who thinks this stuff is a part of them, so they join it, who is incompetent, who does this for a paycheck (you get a sense of that), and those who see this as a part of them. I cannot put percentages on any of this.

You would think your life would be amazing living in a mansion or in New York City in a top condo. People find out their lives are no better than thousands of years ago in civilizations. They know this after a few years of living the life they wanted badly, but they only buy it for the status.

To the people who say the brain is complex and we know so little about it, they are claiming Islam doesn't understand the brain, which it does in full. Islam tells us how our brain functions; they couldn't be more wrong.

Alcohol is not that amazing where someone has to try it. Why bother to legalize it?

They want a better connection with faith if they do convert. It matters not if they are right. They care about preserving their family and lineage.

I don't accept an answer like that where you think Islam does not define you in any way. Here's an example, do you like going to the beach with friends, do you like eating out? That's the worldly life that the Quran speaks of. Do you like culture, do you like reading, do you like knowledge? Do you like miracles? Do you have dreams (yes)? There you go. Important

Poetry tells us what past generations talked about such as the Ancient Egyptians, Mesopotamians, Ancient Chinese etc. Important

The people who don't care about religion there is no point telling them the truth that the Bible is from Arabia. So even if you show them, truth is lost where they simply don't care, they will not even talk about it and forget it on purpose to repeat that the Bible took place in Palestine where they believe it again. Yet for everything else in life, they feel they have to be right.

This is all you can do, marry Jewish, Christian, or Muslim women who don't know what is going on in the Middle East. From there, try to recruit them to condemn Saudi Arabia. When she tells her friends about it, they won't listen. She however will resent Saudi Arabia for life. Preaching never works. The only other way to spread the cause is through having children. That's it. So have as many kids as possible.

Try to be down to earth for fun, whatever that may be like shopping, eating out for instance. This works on everyone if they believe you are.

Since you can't play dumb with someone since it never works, you can just barely talk about yourself and your religious views. Only talk about sports or food the usual. Talk little about the news since they know you keep up with it. From there, they will overlook how you know all of this.

It wasn't until 1960 there was a middle class. Being rich didn't start until the 1940s. Peasants made up 90% of the public and the remaining 10% weren't necessarily rich, maybe 2% of that 10% were. There was no way to be middle class or rich. Rich was so few and far between. Now everyone wants to be rich with the idea that they can be. The world has changed so much with money. Money is a great thing, it lifts us out of poverty and gives us more out of life. What went wrong is that everyone wants the most amount of money possible. You shouldn't need to own a home, nor a fancy car, nor take luxurious vacations. Because many people do not have these things, something must be wrong with society. Meanwhile, those who have these nice things, they want more nice things because they are not happy, the nicer things, the better the life. In essence, both those who have what they want in life and those who don't, they both lose. What was once a benefit/luxury, is now a detriment to society. Important

I totally understand if someone's beliefs change. But to claim their beliefs can change throughout their whole life, make up your mind. That makes you senseless. That means you have no direction, your values are confused, you can't learn because you understand history and politics different throughout time so maybe you support for instance the zionist state than you support Palestine. What you say are saying is you wait for one of them to win your vote. That's not how it works, you have to stay by Palestine no matter what. In fact, your support is not needed at all, what you are saying is when the other side is "more appealing/moral" than it's time to support the zionist state. That's absurd.

How can someone tell me Islam doesn't define them but someday Islam could when they never gave Islam a chance? I don't see them praying, fasting, doing charity, finding what they like. What they think is an effort isn't one. At least enter Islam first and convert. Knowing a good amount of the Islamic faith is not an effort.

Christians don't put their religion first, they put their country first.

God gave life color and vibrance. That's why we have colors. Without them, life would be dull and bland. Notice how there isn't one color too.

Allah wrote life that there was and is always food in the world, that humanity never died of hunger.

Before the Bible was written down, stories were handed down from generation to generation. Someone would say Prophet Abraham said this, then it would obviously be lost. We would be going by someone else's word who isn't a Prophet, we don't even know who authored the Old Testament, it was many different people who recorded what they had heard from others about the Prophets.

With false gods in polytheism, they have no clue if their false gods want justice or not, it's just a theory.

People are turning to celebrities to make their life better, and it's done them no good. They left religion years ago not sure when, this is what they chose instead.

Look for ancient poetry, it will tell you what ancient people discussed and what their interests were. Important

Anytime I read a comment that says Islam came after Jesus, I instantly laugh. The people who type comments like these will never listen that Islam is the first religion, and that Muhammad is the Final Prophet who completed the message of Islam. Another example where people will never listen no matter what, they put no effort to dispute the claim made by Muhammad. Important

There is not one protest to get rid of nukes in America and Russia. Both countries have enough nukes to end the world seven times over. Important

If you seriously think every country in the world is running well, please come talk to me. I will give them my list of countries I will never live in. Important

“I knew James Cockroft as in autistic classes! You mean to tell me he can write books!” I find this funny.

I am strong against homeschooling. I would rather send my child to a school that teaches evolution, lgbt, and speaks against religion where I would tell them to block their ears. Homeschooling what it does in most cases is make the person needy for their parents, not dependent of others, robs them memories of friends, prevents them from learning how to talk to people, makes them very sensitive, makes them have very high standards for themselves, the list goes on. I am satisfied I wasn’t homeschooled. Important

There is no compulsion in religion, that means Muhammad’s wives were not forced nor pressured into marrying him.

Because Muhammad had the sexual strength of 100 men, this means he could lure at least most women to marry him. I am not taking a jab at women, I don’t know if us guys would marry a girl who gives the best sex ever, I would wager most guys would. All these women saying they wouldn’t be in a polygamous marriage; I don’t believe it at all. On top of that, a woman would have the highest status in the Hereafter a woman could ever get. On this earth, these women would be respected by all Muslims who defend you and many people of other faiths respect you speaking highly of you talking about you for all generations.

I study evolution for hours and hours and I don’t believe any of it. Someone means to tell me a teacher at any level can cause me to believe in the ideology of evolution? In fact, I have been asking a 31-year-old woman that we have a good interpersonal relationship with about evolution a lot and she rebuttals my religious points, I haven’t one thought of believing evolution, ever. If someone leaves religion, it could just be a phase, it doesn’t mean the school indoctrinated them by lying to them. Claiming homeschooling prevents leaving religion, no. They left, because they don't want to be Muslim, they were not indoctrinated 40 hours a week of evolution. In fact, no one has any proof that would work on me so no I don't believe in indoctrination at all I take offense to that. Important

You don't have to endorse Sharia Law in North America and Europe. However, you must allow a Muslim to have the right to marry four wives as such, you cannot disprove claiming that Muslims must follow the laws of the land. You have to say yes, he has that right. As you know, I endorse Sharia Law. Important

What I have noticed with North America and Europe is that when something doesn't work, the citizens will just keep doing it. Or the alternative is that they try something "new" that gives the same results or worse. Imagine if America lasted for 1000 more years, it would be the same thing marketed differently, beneath it all, you would notice it was the same as 2023. Important

Americans can't just keep overlooking and neglecting all the problems that America has. It doesn't work that way as I have shown.

Do you notice how our names excite others when they hear them thinking "hey, that's James" or with a girl you may like "hey, that's Emma" instantly you think nice, Carly is calling me. Do you also notice how no single name stands out more than others? There are names that are not common. Names come up frequent, there aren't that many used names, not thousands for Americans for instance, I don't know global, but I am sure most countries there aren't over 150 used names. Also, all our names have meanings that imply something special about us such as supplanter, or defender of mankind, beautiful, princess, smile. Thousands and thousands of good names. Our names are not bland with no meaning. God entrusted us with our name. Important

We Muslims can explain God's laws, we can explain the holy books though we don't know 100% of the interpretation, we know most of history, we know there is nothing else in the galaxies. But we don't know God's imagine, we know little about what God imagines, we know little about our intellect and what we are capable of in Paradise. No matter what you knowledge is or how pious you are, you will not be given these answers your whole life. Only Prophets know this. I think Prophets knew most about Allah but not all about Allah. Because we know God's laws, we can create God's government known as the Sharia. The Sharia we implement is not perfect, but if you were to ask me, the Sharia run in Syria, Yemen, and Iran is run excellent, the citizens of Iran don't support the government it has nothing to do with the Sharia. There are many forms of it, and these are good examples but yes the governments make their mistakes, and I would miss a few of their mistakes. Thanks to the Quran and hadiths we can form the Sharia. Important

Though it is called Hail Mary, catholics are not worshipping Maryam. Catholics who are not praying to the false Babylonian god want their prayers to go to Jesus, so they honor Maryam, so the prayers go to Jesus. Catholics can pray to Maryam, but they don't That's an error in catholicism that they can pray to Maryam, it would make them polytheists unintentionally but the catholics goal is not to be polytheists. Important

The better the memories, the more it hurts when someone leaves.

Every single time I see an American flag that isn't a small one, it sets me off. I have tried and tried to neglect the feeling but fail at it.

God invented transportation such as trains, busses, ships, planes to make life much more accessible. It wasn't made by man contrary to what you are told. The world was made accessible for us. Without ships and airplanes, humanity could never be able to go to all continents since Russia and Alaska separated through the ocean. Without them, we could never get to countries like Madagascar and Australia. We could never have gotten to certain islands with no people on them.

Matt Dillahunty argued that God should have just created people for the Heavens instead of having the stories of the Bible. Here's my response, the stories were to get us to this point. Also, the stories show how God is always victories and powerful. Matt is acting like the stories weren't needed. Matt doesn't take into account why the stories were there that people wouldn't listen to the signs. Also, Matt, the stories help show us that Islam is correct, a book in which there is no doubt. We also need the Quran to teach us we can marry up to four wives. To act like the Quran has no thought put into it, I couldn't disagree more.

Look at the brands of cereals we have such as Captain Crunch, Frosted Flakes, Cocoa Puffs. Look at the mascots we have like Tony the Tiger and Sonny the Cuckoo Bird. Look at the names of foods we have like pizza and tacos how the name stands out. Look at fast food like Wendy's and KFC. All these examples stand out and people get excited for them, it's a good time with good food. This goes to show things are not bland on the earth. Our lives need things to look forward to, something we can share with other people that some people like KFC some people like Wendy's. Look at products with high sugar in them like milkshakes how they stand out each distinct flavor and people look forward to drinking them. Think of skyscrapers and how everyone wants to live at the penthouse, everyone likes luxury. Think about music, a group of people like rap, a group like rock and roll, a group likes country. They will all defend the music they like along with the artists. Look at all the different types of clothes we wear. Look at all these social media platforms. Look at how each of them are special and distinct the content they share and the titles they have for themselves. I can't think of the word I want to attribute it to, but it all stands out. It's our logo we stand by it gives us character. God invented these things. Important

Allah is called As Salaam as one of his names. That means Allah is the giver of peace.

What I think happens is so much of this distortion becomes normalized and then it's more and more that happens meaning more that has to be accepted. When you speak out against one thing wrong America does, there are 3 more things wrong weeks later that need to be addressed. Important

In the future, a good portion of women won't see the need for men in their lives. What this means is more homosexuality, more depression, more single mothers, more guys feeling not wanted in society some will address this because they have concern for Americans. Many men won't feel wanted, the men who got what they wanted will feel very pompous. Regardless, there is no solution for this.

"There is no such thing as a bad question" I disagree. In some instances, yes.

Friends cause people to want better. If friends have master's degrees, they themselves want it. Occasionally, it is because they have family, they want to honor by getting a woman that reflects good on their character.

White young men are now the most likely to fail in school. No, I am not satisfied with this at all, I am upset by it, I would prefer not to talk about it.

You as a Muslim have two hours between each prayer to pray. You have to get the prayer in-between that time. Pray once for the daily prayer, then pray another to make up for the previous prayers. Important

Even if taxpayers have to pay to make jobs created that don't produce much for the country, it's still the right of a country's citizens to have work. Though if the work is dead end retail, I see it as no good at all, people are better off not working than working there. With their free time they can give back to charity in some way, for instance studying material to vote more efficiently.

Am I one of the few people in America who believes you have enough in life working dead end jobs? That your job doesn't matter at all? Why do you need more in the sense of higher expectations of yourself? Why is the job so crucial as part of you? What about reading, what about making friends that have good insight? What about giving back with your time? You're not hindered by these things; in fact, you have more time because your job doesn't make you so tired when you get home that you do nothing. You can leave a dead-end job for another one in a second.

The more you invest in religion, the more you become a man. I'm not making this up.

Muhammad must have loved the Ummah because it is what he believes. Think about it, the Ummah did exactly what he wanted. The first four Caliphs were exactly who he wanted to lead the Ummah after him. For Muhammad, this must have been a dream come true.

The Arabic language had reached its peak of development in 507. Christians and Jews were still practicing so they would be able to recognize a Prophet. Arabia wasn't colonized, this allowed the message of Islam to spread. The bravest Arabs ever born lived in those times. Pagan Arabs of old were more honest and truthful than some of the so-called Muslims today, so when the pagan Arabs converted, they made great Muslims. The Quran being unchanged for 1400 years is a miracle.

The Iranians think us Sunni's say Hussain is a kaffir, that is what is taught in their schools.

What I learned is that we humans will keep taking in the world but no matter what we humans will always still want memories and nice things no matter what we do. We may overlook what people take on the world, but we humans will still want something nice the world has to offer.

To all the people who think they've converted to Islam, you are converting to a deeply Arabian culture. Yes, North America and Europe does share things in common, but for the most part the two could not be more opposite. Every 10 or so years, Abrahamic faiths separate more and more from North America and Europe. Yet people act like they go hand and hand because they want it to be such.

A 3700-year-old table shows that the Babylonians knew trigonometry. More evidence people were very primitive back then. Important

You have to be careful with this material, because people will think you are insecure by judging others. Only your well-known friends will accept who you are. Your coworkers and neighbors will not accept it.

25%-30% regret the divorces they get. That's noteworthy.

When you convert to Islam, no women cares. No women is more interested in you for being a convert.

How come in movies like James Bond the hero gets all the women? Do we laugh at this? How come the houri are mocked? You die a hero for the Islamic cause, you get the women. On this earth, you can get a woman being Islamic. In the Hereafter, a Muslim man gets thousands of women. Important

One reason why we are religious, is so we don't corrupt our souls. That's what partying, drugs, and alcohol does over time. This is one if not the main reason for me. Important

Had people have read the scripture, they would know it wouldn't matter what race Jesus, Muhammad, or other Prophets is. Their mission is to give you faith. They thought no less of you what race you were or what your heritage was. No race or heritage owns the Prophets nor has more of a claim over the Prophets. All the Prophets looked for in you was your commitment and piety. That's what being a Muslim is. Important

We know there is a Devil because if you take a photo or video of someone without their consent, it will upset them. Important

All the Prophets knew Arabic. Not just because Aramaic and Hebrew are almost the same. It is because they lived in Arabia. This means Muhammad knew Hebrew. Muhammad did business in Syria, this means he knew Aramaic since Syriac and Aramaic are very similar. To get around Syria, he would have to know Aramaic. It is possible that the Prophets only knew Hebrew, Aramaic, and Arabic. I say this because the Angels would teach the Prophets scripture in full in the language they knew meaning in Hebrew or Arabic. The Quran is in Arabic, the Prophets would have to know Arabic beforehand to be prepared because the Prophets would have to know the Quran not knowing when Prophet Muhammad would come to reveal the Quran.

As long as you don't hit your wife or sleep with your friend's wife, your friends will rarely if ever leave you. Most people put no thought into what your political or religious views are. Let's say your friends leave you, then you can move to another town and start over. People forget things, no matter what you have done, they don't talk about you for long. You may have past girlfriends that you regret, don't talk about it with others, it really is that simple.

I live in the least religious part of America in New England; this must have confused the FBI.

Greek philosophers like Plato and Socrates didn't add anything to knowledge that religion did not already discover. It is true that Greek philosophers added somewhat to ethics and logic, but they did not discover such. Yet for some reason, most people study Greek philosophers and idolize them.

People who are "jihadis" are of the Devil. People who are "jihadis" die young every time. These are groups like daesh and al nusra front. It gets worse, the sick individuals who run Wikipedia listed the Houthi's who are fighting to protect their own people as "jihadis". So, if you support the Houthi's well you must be supporting "jihadi's", no words. Important

The Bible with no errors has the exact coordinates of all the events found in scripture.

If you own anything even one item American such as a purse with an American flag on it even as a decent sized logo, then America what America does defines you. You cannot say "I just bought it because I like the colors on the purse." What you are doing is showing support of America by having a flag on your purse since you are not buying it for parody that would be the only legitimate reason. I will never debate this. Important

We Muslims can't make music, if not, we Muslims would put out so much rap music and pop music.

Take it from me, no amount of knowledge will cause you to be pompous, expecting, immature, and short with people. People like this are jerks with no motive. There has to be another cause, knowledge hasn't done that to me.

The percent of Muslims that are salafi and wahhab is about 25%, that number will go higher and higher I think to 45% by 2050. Important

We humans cannot stay upset or depressed about something forever. Eventually, we let go unless we are deeply traumatized. Even traumatized people heal over time, but not entirely.

What bothers me is that people don't want to be told what to do when given advice. But then they will complain "oh I'm sad" or "oh I'm a victim of abuse." It is obvious they are new people and they have no intent of fixing who they are, they are satisfied with it.

People's taste buds were much different back then so the food was fine for most of them.

If religious people read the Bible and Quran literal, there would be few differences. There would only be slight disagreements.

One thing positive I can say about Muhammad given the description we have of him is that he made sure his followers got exactly what they asked for on the earth between getting them wives and having their presence be known in Arabia where they walked as champions of Arabia.

Look at the core of a belief system, not the good.

There needs to be restrictions in countries like Syria, Iraq, and Iran that if a traveler does not support Palestine and Yemen then they are NOT welcome to tour. I am aware a traveler can lie about supporting Palestine and Yemen to get in. However, travels should be required to watch what is happening in a 30-minute documentary even if they don't pay attention during it. Important

All these people who say everyone's beliefs are constantly changing, how come religious conversions rarely happen? That's simply not true. Also, only 9% of voters switch from democrat to republican vise versa with 15% switching to democrat and 6% switching to republican. This shows people don't switch political parties either, it is. Important

All the Sunni and Shia sects are correct, except for wahhab and salafi. Those two belief systems aren't Islamic. Important

If you want to give people guidance on the internet, instead of talking about hooking up, relationships, and gossip, what you can do is talk about being a professional, better understanding knowledge, and how to have a good character. The hookup conversations, relationships conversations, and gossip have done nothing.

WhatsApp is the best social media way to contact people from around the world. It's not even close. You can call people through it easily. You can also set up group chats. It took two minutes for me to figure out how to use it.

A lady who is 31 who I have known for over 5 months who is very educated keeps telling me that I should make content on YouTube……maybe this could work! I have my doubts though. Bearing in mind, I haven't a clue how to make TikTok videos people will watch. Only YouTube videos. Let's just say TikTok is one of those products I may never understand at all how to gain any sort of influence on it.

What happens is those who listen to you talk about Islam, they think I want a casual conversation to talk about what I want to talk about, and they join in saying "I like such and such practice." They do not realize I am trying to convert them. Even if I told them, they would just say "I appreciate it, maybe someday I will, we never know."

What could work is if you try to remove yourself from the earth so then you can preach far easier.

Prophet Sulaiman has no trace. Cain has no trace. Abel has an Arabian tribe named after him. Prophet David has a few inscriptions called the House of David. Prophet Moses has a bit of a trace in Arabia. All the other Prophets nobody doubts existed including Adam.

What a great thing to wish for someone who lost a child that their child is in Paradise when the child was a Christian.

One thing the world got right is that with the English language, I don't believe there are any word definitions that are wrong though they get updated over time at times. I'm sure there are a few words that have the wrong definitions, but the dictionary as a whole is accurate and reliable. It will also teach you how to communicate without any issue.

I'm conservative but I don't think the leftists are responsible for ghettos. I don't think conservatism would fix ghettos. They are ghettos, they can't be fixed through better jobs.

We know the world will end anyways. Humanity is finite. Nobody believes the world will last forever. I guess it is possible, but it is nearly impossible.

It's not that smart phones make people dumb, it's that people don't use smartphones wisely and find short videos that give dopamine hits that they can cheer at thinking someone made a point on TikTok that is not a valid case of what they are claiming.

One thing funny you can do is trip at work and laugh about it and talk about it all day, your coworkers will look at you so off.

When an inmate converts to a religion in jail, 80% of the time it is Islam.

Wouldn't it help the case that Islam is correct that Islam applies religious law? Think of all the Jews and Christians that talk about Mosaic Law how it applies to their day-to-day life. Mosaic Law is in the Bible for a reason. Clearly most of the Jews and Christians don't want it implemented into law for others. I would disagree. It think it should. Why not have religious law?

If someone tells me that more education spending is needed, I instantly ignore it. The more spending does nothing. The students are more addicted to their social media which is making their social skills worse along with a far worse attention span. If we spend more money, you will get the same results not better nor worse. As far as spending towards mental health, I will say "no" to that. We would have no need for mental health spending if the education system worked which it doesn't. Important

How I view people I find unique. I go based on the town they were raised and went to high school in. Having gone to a middle class high school, I will know how each town mostly acts and what to expect. I use this first in factoring before their generation they are from, generation comes second for me.

I almost got shot by a cop, and I completely forgot over 7 months…….I am amazed!

It would only make sense that the correct religion Islam was preached in Arabia, that's where humanity began since that's where the religion is from. We all descended from Adam, Muhammad is an Arab, Adam is as well. Important

Any job where they hire you on the spot is a job where the workers don't do a good job. That's how life works.

I don't understand this generation and future ones where they keep taking photos of themselves and making short videos. Not only is it excessive but it removes people from life where all they do is check their phone for short videos from friends. Important

I'm sure animals know and love Prophets, but the animals don't know Prophets names. The animals can identify Prophets instantly. Animals know our Lord.

Because Jews believe God's name is Yahweh, we Muslims can never convert them to Islam because they will never accept that God's name is Allah. The Jews believe Yahweh cannot be pronounced. Yahweh means He.

I don't really understand gold and silver necklaces with crosses that pro athletes wear.

I feel journalism such as articles are very good or excellent in today's world. The problem is it is all left or right reporters. So, when you link someone an article, they will say "oh, that's a conservative website, so it is not accurate."

There is no chance Aisha cheated on Muhammad. I put no thought into it.

Almost 1 out of 5 Muslims have never visited a Mosque.

It's not 1+1+1=3. It's 1x1x1=1. The Christian got it right that's what the Trinity means.

If someone says "I want to pick a religion" then they don't understand religion. People like that go by influencers that are famous. They are not going by the caliphs nor based on the Islamic culture. They are letting the influencers decide for them under the claim of them “picking” the religion. They claim they pick a religion that “defines” them, they are converting for a trend is what is happening. If someone converts to a religion because they fell in love with someone, I have no issue with this.

Apparently, there is a “code of ethics” that a professional cannot explain their religious beliefs to me. That’s what the therapist told me. I’ve never heard of such.

The catholics priests are telling people all the Prophets existed such as Jesus and David. They say the events with miracles didn’t happen.

From what I have seen, the internet shows the same material of conversations and most of the time, it is gossip and dating repeated!

When you are doubting what you are doing, think of all Islam has done for you in making you want to achieve your goals. Important

In Egypt, a Christian woman can marry a Muslim man only with the permission of her Church, this is rarely granted by her church. Something interesting.

As a white person, I have never experienced racism a day in my life. However, I have been treated as less for being white and conservative. I have been strongly disliked for my skin color, not that I see anything wrong with that, it’s their choice. I’ve never been treated less for being Muslim. I have never been persecuted. Important

Not one book I own has been made into a movie or a TV show. I guess one could say that these books wouldn’t sell if they were made into a movie or a TV show, is that the reason? Important

I think Gabriel at times took orders from Muhammad. Remember, the Angels bowed to Adam. As I have shown, the two were clearly a team, Gabriel did not use Muhammad. Important

Rome didn’t view Christianity as a threat, it is all myth! The Christians were trained so they could become gladiators, the Christians were slaves, that was how it worked. The Romans didn’t view Christianity any more or less significant from any other of their slaves’ beliefs. The Christians just happened to be slaves. Important

I have not words for the people who claim to be Muslim where they claim Islam is about unity and are incapable of recognizing what the wahhabs are doing globally because all these clowns think about is how anyone who claims to be Muslim is one that wahhabs are Muslims that are peaceful. These people are too much of clowns to call out what the wahhabs are doing since they are incompetent. They will say that it is not Islam to claim that someone isn't a Muslim because they are a wahhab. If you call them out, then they think in their minds that you must be "jealous." I find this to be unreal.

For the Yemeni youth, most have no passion for education and see no reason for it. Millions are pushed out of school. Millions more have no schooling at all. More than 2,500 schools have been destroyed, damaged, or used for non-educational purposes. Two thirds of teachers have not received a paycheck since 2016 ongoing till 2023. 37% need some form of humanitarian assistance.

Men look much less masculine and much younger than they do of previous generations. This is because men do not work physical labor, better diets, far less tasks to do, and smoking has gone down from 42% to 14%. It's something no one could see coming.

An awesome job would be to work for a government benefits agency where you never deny anyone who applies. I find this hysterical.

I know this is a social policy, but single parents should be paid more at jobs whether male for female. I know we can't do that though, there isn't money to just give out. It wouldn't be beneficial to be a single parent because the money wouldn't even be worth mentioning.

One of the main reasons why Islam is correct which is the main reason for me is because Muhammad had discovered exactly what it takes to make it through life such as avoiding alcohol, not eating excessive, defend yourself in combat, work no more than 6 days a week, have good hygiene, don't hoard wealth, have good ethics, have a good word so people can trust you, don't steal so you cannot be punished, obey the laws of the land, try to avoid the worldly life, don't gamble, how many wives you can have, having knowledge, to not marry a promiscuous women, and work a job. Important

I'm glad you atheists believe you have found purpose in having no purpose.

There are a portion of Muslims in leadership positions who choose not to speak out against the zionists and they know what is going on and they don't believe in the "third" temple. They do this so they don't get bad publicity. I don't support this at all, but I accept it.

I love what I do, but I get so consumed by it that I forget why it means so much to me. It's not that I don't enjoy it, it's that I take it so far.

If a Christian were to publish books like the ones I write, most Christians would denounce him calling him the worst insults possible wishing all kings of evil. As a Muslim writing these books, a portion speak out, but the rest defend me writing these books because they think it is “racist” to speak against it since at least a portion of Muslims support my books, so the public will ignore what I write. That’s where the world is today and for much of the future at least.

You cannot adopt in Islam because you are not blood related. They aren’t related to you at all no matter what relationship you have with them. This makes complete sense.

Self-betterment has become huge in the 2000’s. It will only go that much further. Self-betterment is just another disguise for a way of saying someone wants to raise their status and make more money. There is irony in it being called “self-betterment”. Americans talk about “self-betterment”, there is no golden rule to be found in it.

There’s no way that life started as apes because the Gardens of Eden were created before humans. So people believe that apes started in the Gardens of Eden? These “apes” wouldn’t have evolved since scientists believe evolution took a million generations or more. This means “apes” were kicked out of the Gardens of Eden unless people believe organisms were in the Gardens of Eden and these “organisms” evolved into Adam to eat from the Tree of Life.

You have to have lived experiences. You can’t just read someone’s experience and learn from it. People claim events have varying effects, I don’t believe they do. I believe events affect us all the same, some just don’t handle it as well. A person decides what effect it has on them.

There is an answer to everything in life, a solution or a response that is satisfactory.

Many people in North America and Europe cannot put thought into the suffering in Palestine and Yemen because the problems are so deep in their home country, they have no time to worry about another country.

People who chase higher salaries only want more money for status! They know more money will not bring them fulfillment in life; they think the status will do that. If they are to get a higher paying job, they then have to work that much harder. Then they miss out on life, what happens is years later they end up miserable because all their friends had fun, and all they did was work. That’s why constantly you see guys in their 60’s trying to date women in their 20’s, they are trying to relive their youth, by then it is too late for them. We now see women doing the same in North America and Europe.

Who is to say Muhammad didn't want to be with Khadija opting to have 11 wives at once? We never met him, we don't know. In fact, he may not have had preference at all which is what I think meaning he didn't prefer 11 wives or Khadija alone. It's an example where people jump to conclusions about the Muslim faith. Most of Muhammad's marriages were to form alliances.

Emojis are more dopamine hits, that's all they are. Look at how colorful they are. No wonder why they are so popular and are used so frequently.

So long as someone says they "identify" a certain way, you can't disagree with them. This is because they will feel abused. Important

Because of cultural reasons and different experiences in life, people won't convert to Islam. I'm not asking someone to see the world the way I do, yet people think that is what you are trying to do when you try to convert them. I'm teaching religion, that's what I am doing. Islam teaches them how the world works, not me. Because a person identifies as Christian, I can't teach them to convert. Important

If the Ummah is to succeed, money should NOT be the factor in what makes someone successful and a leader in society. Money should be no higher than the sixth factor. These factors include can he control his anger, is he knowledgeable, is he a dedicated worker, is he relatable, is he talented? Money is the worldly life, but that's all we look at in the Ummah. Important

Recent estimates show that about 40 percent of births in the United States occur outside of marriage, up from 28 percent in 1990 (Child Trends 2016). Pew Research Center made an article by Gretchen Livingston on April 27,2018 where she wrote About one-third of U.S. children are living with an unmarried parent. The number has more than doubled from 1968, jumping from 13% to 32% in 2017. My question to the reader is at what number is this concerning to the public? What will America be like in 20 years when they are expected to enter the labor force? 85% of children with behavior issues are from single mother homes. 71% of school dropouts are from single mother homes.

People go to shopping malls to get dopamine hits looking at all the different clothing and items and only buying a few things.

The Enuma Elish and the Epic of Gilgamesh have similarities to Genesis because the stories were handed down and people added to them to create myths such as the Enuma Elish and the Epic of Gilgamesh. The Sumerians adapted the stories as their own and added to it. Or the Sumerian were handed down the stories and they added to the stories by accident when the Sumerians wanted to show the stories took place in Arabia. Important

The main reason why Muhammad was perfect is because Muhammad couldn't lose, ever.

Because I tell others that Islam is all correct, they will not convert. They want to believe they are "open minded", they don't want to believe a religion answers all of their questions. Instead, the questions and answers keep evolving each generation. Because people are so open minded, they overlook what the wahhab's do to promote their ideology worldwide. Being "close minded" is viewed as something bad in society.

It's no wonder why the democratic party wins so much, the democrats are viewed "open minded" and the republicans are viewed "close minded."

Since Abu Bakr started his reign in 632, who would be the Muslims leader when most of Arabia was conquered in year 631? Important

Every single previous generations are the ones who have religion correct, a portion of scholars and imams have it right to this day, but this would be about 8%-20%. The previous generations are the ones to be studied, but only a portion of religious people will take from them. The rest will take from the "new" "imams". Important

There are so many things to do on this earth, so much to explore, so much to learn. The thing is, we have studied the major subjects on the earth. Now we can study the in between and the minor things that we don't know since we don't know all about life.

Either psychotic medications or alcohol or both need to be banned. They both cannot be legalized because when they are combined, these two materials kill people. Eight drinks will cause someone to run a good risk of dying combined with medication. As you know my take, it would be the psychotic medications that do nothing for the patients that use them and are lethal in a fair number of doses. Important

Why would God want the talmudists to have from the Nile to the Euphrates? Think of how many Arabs have to be evicted, how Sharia Law would be taken out of the land. What religion will be taught in the land? How will religion be taught? What about history? Were the Palestinians evil and not the seed of Abraham? They won't be teaching the Arabian roots of the Abrahamic faiths. It is far deeper than this, I have only addressed a small part of it. Important

The most professional people produced by a religion is Islam by the way us Muslims dress and conduct ourselves. Others disagree with me, I know.

The issue with today's world as I have outlined is that people feel they have to keep proving themselves, finding new ways to do so. As a result of this, they overlook the issues of the earth. Important

They think Islam is a fashion statement to add to what I previously said that people think we are religious for clout. So, tell people it is your style of fashion, they will believe you.

If Uber was much more affordable, many people would be paying for Uber for status, to go anywhere they want, or for a hobby. I know it is small, but it is by design that we cannot have our own personal taxi. Plenty of people wouldn't buy cars.

A catholic saw how I have not that much notes on what Paul writes. I can read what Paul writes and time and time again, there is nothing in Paul's writings. Christians want you to keep reading through the false gospel. If I read it again, I will make minor changes. Christians never give up thinking reading the false gospel a fifth time I will conclude something different, that will never be the case. Important Did Prophet Isa have a wife? It's a tossup. It is not like in Christianity where there is no chance of it. Prophet Isa didn't have sons or daughters though. I would wager that Prophet Isa had a wife or wives. She would be Arabian living near the Kaaba almost a guarantee she lived there.

A lot of people are waiting for something they want to hear from a religion to go to a Church or a Mosque. I know each religious center will compete in the future trying to reach the "open minded." Each religion including each denomination will try all these different things to get the crowd to go. They will say wild things or will have wild ideas, much more frequency and scale wise than they do today.

Muslims give Christian's trouble for how Paul killed Jews before converting to Christianity. Muslims overlook how Umar was going to kill Prophet Muhammad but had stopped himself for doing such. Umar and Paul's stories have a good amount in common. The thing here is Paul is a polytheist occultist and Paul was martyred, Paul remained a polytheist occultist and helped invent Christianity. Umar was a polytheist not a polytheist occultist who converted to Islam and became a Caliph. Both were smart before changing faiths. Paul however was very smart before founding Christianity while Umar became very smart after converting.

Just because two religious stories have many similarities, it does not mean one is taken from the other. One could be myth and one could be fact. The two stories could be identical and may be in no way inspired by the other one. This is in reference to the false gospel's version of the Jesus the Messiah and Ra the Egyptian false god. This was of thinking put in context would be if I had made up my own religious text and there were similarities between Ra, yet I could have no clue of Ra. Or, I could have known about Ra and not taken from Ra. Also, Ra is not the first source just because Ra was invented as a false god before the false gospel was written. The Torah was spoken orally before Ra was invented as a false god which the Torah spoke of Jesus's mother being Maryam who was a virgin. Important

There may not be documentation of some of the Prophets existing like Sulaiman. I will however believe Sulaiman existed if 4 billion plus people in today's earth believe Sulaiman existed. Sulaiman's birth was transmitted orally, that doesn't mean his birth didn't happen. That doesn't mean it should be doubted. Then by that school of thought everyone who was alive during that time without paperwork did not exist. That is what they are claiming, it is absurd. No one can be confirmed or denied before the census started in 1790. This means no one can deny Jesus the Messiah or any other Prophet existing, ever. Important

Listen to me on this or don't bother, nobody wants their daughter to be a part of hookup culture, we all agree on that, we all know why. What people don't understand is that most of their sons are NOT prepared for hookup culture. It is something a guy has to prepare for where much of the time the guy will feel sad no having a woman for a long time or they may feel used where they put in all this effort to make it work with a woman time and time again and it fails every time. It takes a rare kind of guy to do hookup culture and not feel very bad inside. Plenty of the time they will end out thinking all woman want in them is their money.

What could happen is there is so much madness on social media in the future that it will lose its thrill addressing it and laughing at it will not be worth it anymore. It will just depress people so much that no thrill could come of it. I'm not so sure about this.

This is how much trouble America and Europe is in, if we Muslims are neutral, the Muslim countries will get bombed since the Mosques are not speaking out against it. If we go against the countries, the Mosques will be bombed. If we are neutral and practice Sharia Law, the Mosques in America and Europe will get bombed. If we don't practice Sharia Law in America and Europe, the countries will tank because America and Europe doesn't have laws set. No matter what we do, our Mosques will be used for their politics or be told we use them for "hate." What are we supposed to do in these countries? Important

Most people in today's world think that the more you "improve" yourself, the more "fulfilling" life you live. There is no evidence of this. If you ask me,

I guess it could help a bit with someone's happiness. It is not guaranteed like the internet and most professionals will tell you. Life joy and fulfillment peaks at some point. Important

What vegan does to someone is make them sound like they haven't reached puberty fully. Lookup Vegan Gains on YouTube. When he raises his voice, you notice this. Being a vegetarian doesn't do this to someone, but being a vegan does.

Life is a serious of phases.

The father's want for their daughters to marry young men who are as successful as they were in their 20's. They don't want guys who are in college and don't make a stable income to afford a nice place. This has to stop in the Ummah. The solution is for the fathers to accept the young man the daughter wants and accept that the young man will not be making enough to afford a house.

This is my advice, ask someone in their 20's who are the social media stars who they listen to. You will know a good amount about the person and what they will tell you. This will help beforehand talking to someone and can make for an easy friendship. There are plenty of people that don't have any though.

Someone told me he saw no reason for Muhammad's preaching and the Quran because he claimed the Quran said Jesus was not the son of god and the Jews made errors in their scripture claiming there were "some" errors in the Old Testament. What he was trying to say is Islam is not enough for him to see reason for the Quran existing. To him, Islam is nowhere near enough for the Quran to exist that the purpose served of Muhammad's preaching was so little it only needs to be discussed in a sentence or two. That it is not even worth someone's time to read beyond one or two verses in the Quran. He overlooks how the Quran is the only holy text with no errors in it that it is the scripture of God, what God intended for.

For a certain people, God prescribed something, for others, God prescribed something else. God doesn't change his mind. God prewrote everything. Scripture does not update. Important

All these guys claiming to be masculine and of a high status. All these guys care about is high status. If they didn't have the "high status", they would be very depressed. If they were one of the most masculine alive but had no high status, they wouldn't care at all. They would give up all masculinity to have this high status. They use masculinity to boast, yet there are so many things they won't do. Important

If religion didn't have a brotherhood, we could just sell anyone out. A brotherhood has reason. Important

Arabia didn't need to be conquered by the Romans because the land was futile. Those trying to conquer Arabia saw no need for Arabia to be, the land wasn't famous either.

Since Gabriel contacted Muhammad in Arabia, we can almost confirm Gabriel is Arabian, Angels are Arabian. Important

I'm not the best at speech, so I wrote these books partly to explain what I believe without putting emphasis on something I did not intend for.

All social media is doing is making it so people forget we are human and we say a few senseless things at times. This makes for more breakups.

If the Angels didn't write down what we believers say, it wouldn't matter our approach to how we treat non-believers. It also wouldn't matter how we spread the message of Islam, that religion is to be taken seriously, not for game.

The elites are just going to keep banking that distorting the religion will wreck someone or will discourage someone they quit who takes a stand against them. Important

What is happening is people's demands in first world countries are higher and higher. Those who influence and the lawmakers can only come with so much to offer those who follow them. They will work together and divide thinking they are doing the right thing. They will come up with "new" ideas where they keep trying and trying to make it work. It won't. Important

There was a royal tribe from the 4th to 6th century called the Salihids in Northern Arabia which most likely comes from the Prophet Salih who lived in Northern Arabia. They are also called the Salih.

Expect in the future for religions to compete and compete for numbers targeting the youth. If someone wants a high following, they will use a religion and target the youth. Each religion will go back and forth using any method possible. Yes, religion will grow and grow with each generation. Even if the numbers decline which won't be that substantial, what will happen is the followers will be far more invested. Despite followers investing more and more in religion. Religion will crash because most of the followers will do religion all wrong. Once the religions start to crash, then the mass exodus will come where followers walk out of religious classes. Important

The Talmud lists Esther as a prophet. This is incorrect.

For some reason, things have become more work, you would think there would be less work needed to be done in 2023 with progress and technology.

The internet was for knowledge and communication worldwide in 2005. Now in 2023, it is solely for influence. Yikes.

Muhammad told his wives beforehand that he would be getting more wives after them, they already knew. This was a societal Arabian practice where if a man's wife passed away, he would proceed to get multiple wives.

All the nations inherited the stories from Noah of the flood and the creation of Adam with the Tree of Life and the Tree of Knowledge. On the Day of Judgement, they will answer that their Prophet was either Adam or Noah, most will answer Noah. Important

Without the Quran, other religions can just keep adding books they claim are "holy." But they insist they will never do such a thing. The problem is it is not banned in their faith. For instance, they can believe Jesus is one of many gods and claim to be Christian.

One key reason why I know most of the false gospel is a fraud is because Jesus the Messiah is immortal. We humans will get such little insight from our Lord on the only human to ever be immortal. Important

Allah won't show people Paradise on this earth because then they can confirm Paradise and what is in it. Their testimony will mean it is a fact, though it already is through the Quran. Someone could then provide visuals of Paradise, which we know so little about. The visuals could be far different than what we humans expected. Important

Christians cite Josephus as evidence for their false god being crucified. Josephus believed that Nabataeans are from the "tribe of Nebaioth." Nebaioth is a descendant of Ishmael. Nabataeans are an ancient Arabian people. I personally don't think Nabataeans are descendants of Nebaioth, however they could be. Christians are citing someone who believed that Arabs are descendant of Ishmael which Muhammad claimed to be. Both Ishmael and Muhammad are Arab. Important

We know which governments are in on it. We also know that their top influencers are in on it. We have no clue which of their citizens are in on it. Also, it isn't possible to trace their citizens because they can pick up their "third" temple ideology at any time where they lie about it and their governments protect their data. To prevent these people from their influence, we need both of their data. Because of this, it isn't safe for me to be a Muslim in these countries because someone will think I work for their governments or their influencers who work together. Guess where I go when I go announcing this? I get told I am to be blamed for what the public thinks is Islam, the public is liable for these sick individuals, yet they won't take accountability choosing to blame me instead. Important

People tell us believers that there is no way of "detecting God." The Quran confirms Allah, that is detecting Allah. Allah communicates to us humans through the Quran. They say religion does not equate to math, believing that religion is not definite. They claim their science discoveries are "definite." I don't know how they want me to respond to that. Important

Since the Quran states that Prophet Noah lived 950 years, that would mean us humans didn't start as apes and cavemen because there is no way that cavemen could live that long given how poorly they took care of themselves. Cavemen lived at most for 33 years. Many biblical figures lived for over 120 years.

Because Americans aren't raised to be taught scripture at a good level, the Americans will deviate from it. From what we see, it is at a very high degree of deviation. This means most Americans will keep distorting their country each generation. This has nothing to do with "culture." It has to do with the fact this is what most Americans know as their way of "living." Asa Americans will tell us, "Islam does not align with my values" what the Americans here are saying is "being a Muslim is not who I am as a person." Important

Each generation will not know that internet videos were to inform and educate on a subject. All the generations will know is influence from videos.

One can conclude there is one God when back in the 1960's each country of the world was run about the same producing about the same people. Everything ran fine back then. Now in 2023, everything is opposite one another in many different parts of the world. It's not working out at all. Important

Each religion holds their followers accountable for their actions. It's based on the teachers of the religion and the environment.

Two of the main reasons why Islam separates itself from hinduism is because Islam does not want to unite the world by allowing hindus to become Muslim when they believe in many false gods. Also, Islam does not want stories added that are not found in the Quran that can be found in hindu texts.

When someone says religion is something someone comes to terms with, what they don't know is that the teach they have matters in faith.

Because they don’t have a spine, they never achieved anything in life. Every small thing was something serious for them that someone else was to be blamed for.

They want an environment where people come to you for religion…….then I can’t do anything to fix America.

What happened was, Muslims only involved themselves with the religious aspect of faith, this means praying and doing Hajj. They put no thought into the political aspect of Islam in today’s world. As they have shown, they want no part of it. They want it as “practicing faith within the believer.” They have no voice or involvement in what goes on in Syria, Yemen, and Palestine. That’s not what Islam is about, the Ummah is also a part of faith.

Umar and Paul have so much in common with each other. Both were on a mission to kill the followers of a Prophet. Both were well educated and literate. Both were successful in their field. Both were polytheist occultists though Umar later became a Muslim. They both left their former beliefs at around the same age though Paul stayed a polytheist occultist. Both are the seed of Abraham. Umar was strong, Paul was not. Umar had a big family; Paul chose not to have a family. Important Thoughts and Prayers should be turned to Prayers and Thoughts. Our Lord comes first.

How can anyone deny Islam when there is no picture of anyone up until 1826? More importantly, video didn’t come out until 1888. This means no one can deny the records of Prophets nor deny the miracles performed. Nor can someone claim to know the origins of life. Important

Listen to story after story, this will make your IQ go up far higher than what it is at.

Many Muslims think Islam will be dominate if they don’t talk about what the wahhabs are doing to try to distort Islam. These Muslims act as if wahhabism is Islam when it is not. Wahhabism will always be written as its ideology to go to war with Sunni Islam.

In the future, when I try to explain my books to the public, they will call me an “influencer.” The public will do this with most all books in the future. This is because someday, most of the public will want to be a “social media influencer.” Social media is treated as if it is some form of news reporting, it isn’t. Important

The Israelites would mess up at times what they heard from the Prophets. The Israelites didn’t keep repeating many times consistently what they heard with the Quran where it was recited as much as possible. Important

I look at most things as macro thinking.

Muhammad didn’t plagiarize stories from previous religions and societies because Muhammad got every story correct on the story happening and how the story happened. Important

Always ask someone you meet early on, what do you specialize in and what is your expertise? Important

Verses such as Quran 3:31-32, 4:64-65, 4:80, 33:36 say to obey Allah and his Messenger. The internet twists it to change the word “obey” to “submit” as if us Muslims are submitting to Muhammad. Verses such as Quran 6:71 Allah’s guidance is the only true guidance and we have been commanded to submit ourselves to the Lord of the entire universe. In that verse, it doesn’t mention Muhammad. The verse says to Allah’s guidance is the only true guidance and to submit to the Lord of the entire universe. Important

All people can come up with as to why the elites have tried to conquer the world for the last 400 years when they were put into authority is that they are “capitalists” who want their corporations to be as rich as possible having nothing better to do so the elites invade every country in the world. With the effort the elites put in, their only goal in life must be money. Important

How would the results be any better or worse if the British still owned America to this day? It would be different, though I don’t see why this is celebrated? After all, the same people who both the British and the American empires as we have learned through books.

If someone is to tell you they need more proof for Islam to be correct. How do we Muslims know they've done a decent amount of research on Islam? I'm not saying all who don't convert their response is not valid, but at least a portion who responds with such.

I don’t think A.I. will do anything bad at all to a country. I support A.I. I believe A.I. will do so little to further humanity. There was this big deal about how A.I. can write college papers for college papers for college students. There are programs now to detect if something is A.I. or not. A.I. sounds like it can offer more to the public. How much more we will find out. Some or much of what A.I. will offer to the public may not be much.

My advice is to form an opinion on every single matter putting thought into every single opinion regardless of the scale of the matter. Important

Christians believe their false god had human experiences like them, so they feel they can relate to their false god. This means Christians will not leave their faith for Islam since Allah is not a human.

One thing that upsets me is when someone who doesn't make sense tells me to make a YouTube account. You know the reasoning.

It is the same Bible as 300 B.C. to 100 C.E That doesn't mean the Torah hasn't been corrupted. The Torah was compiled hundreds of years before the Dead Sea Scrolls. The Dead Sea Scrolls cannot be used as proof that the Torah has not been corrupted. Important

There are many different Bibles, but the verses are all about the same with each Bible having a few less verses in them. There are so many disagreements over whose Bible is the correct version, yet each Bible is about the same.

I learned in life that things don't always go your way or not your way. They can go in a different direction, which is what often happens in life. How you perceive it is your own demeanor towards it.

Muhammad is the most well-known documented person in history between the Quran and the hadiths.

Why is the seed of Abraham in Ishmael over 400 million people, but the zionists claim that the seed of Abraham in Isaac is only 16 million. That isn't believable to me.

When approached with a matter, think outside of the box. That is usually what is going on when analyzing history.

It has become clear to me that people want to convert to Islam based on their own experiences with religion. That means I can never convert more than 2% if the earth's population that goes based on what they experience and why others believe in the Islamic faith. Important

One reason why I believe Islam is a fact is because there are 7 layers of Hell. There are layers of Hell written for no one else but certain people for what they do on this earth to try to corrupt the earth. Important

The Jews believe Satan works on their behalf. They believe Satan is an agent of God who tests humans. They have it wrong, Satan leads man astray, Satan is a clear enemy of mankind. Thew Jewish belief is that Satan works with humans. This is one key trait talmudists mess up in religion where talmudists try to work with Satan to get their "third" temple. Important

People have asked me why I don't open a social media channel. My response is, why would I make a social media account for the majority to watch who aren't Muslim? Material on Islam with commentary is not for them It is for people who support Muslims and those who support us. It is not for people who are not interested in what goes on in Palestine and just want to watch content I put out in the hopes of them being entertained by it.

Iimatheen is another Muslim YouTuber that is viral who speaks out against the sauds. SYFEtalk is a Muslim YouTuber who is not viral who does not speak out against the sauds but does a good job with his channel. Islam Jaber is a Muslim YouTuber who is viral who does not speak out against the sauds but does a good job with his channel.

Social media is the most by far reason for divorce where husbands and wives are talking to someone through it that they shouldn't be.

Remember this, the glass is half full for whatever happens on the earth. This is a great mindset to have. Important

It is believed that 97% of history has been lost over time. Written accounts of history started 6,000 years ago. Important

I neither agree nor disagree with religious people who claim that we religious people are to follow our religions and not question them at all. However, all religious people must have a leader or themselves check the sources to make sure that as example the Prophet Muhammad did an action found in the hadiths. The way of thinking isn't wrong, it's the fact religious people are not checking sources for when the wahhabs produce a false hadith or have a sermon that has no basis found in the Islamic faith. Important

"Laws change because we know better." That's not true. In Islam, the best of mankind are from previous generations. That means future generations will not know better than them. Someone who says this hasn't accepted that countries take steps forward and backwards in each generation. If this were true, every year the world would be doing better. That's not to say that may have people that are as bright as previous generations, but the numbers of people of such won't compare.

Photos are not a memory or a setting anymore. Photos are for a display for those on social media for people they've never met in person. I find this to be unfortunate.

With all this absurdity that can be found on the internet, the youth will not develop properly. It may take their whole lives to do so.

The Biblical Hebrew experts are not always right in interpreting the Biblical Hebrew today. The experts of Arabic are always right in their interpretation of Arabic.

If there was no life after death, it would be unfair to those who corrupted the earth that there was no punishment for them. This means there would be no justice served, ever. Important

Social media will distort the youth's way of thinking. What it will do is confuse them as to how to run countries since social media isn't being run by those who know what they are doing. This means the youth will think a way humanity has never been, something completely different from what the world has known. Important

Christians when you say that your false god couldn't rule the earth and was crucified, why couldn't that be accomplished? How come in Islam, the Quran is infallible. In Islam, our Lord is victorious. Important

The experience of events are nearly the same as you age once your brain fully develops. I don't see much of a difference in being 30.

Since there are so many parallels between the Old Testament and the Quran, Prophet Muhammad must have known the Old Testament. To me it seems obvious, though I cannot confirm it. Important

Remember that what the future generations will value is what is on social media. They could care less about what is taught in books and maybe even what is taught in schools as a whole. These future generations goals are to get famous on social media above all else. I believe it is one of the main factors that will destroy the earth.

There has not been one human to have come from another planet. We don't need an encyclopedia from the beginning of time to know this. Us humans are humans. All people of the earth are coming to realize this.

2.2 percent of Christians are non-trinitarians. The fact it is not definite that their false god is a Trinity is more evidence Christianity is incorrect since the Trinity is a core teaching in Christianity. Important

The lifestyle of a Jew, a Christian, or a Muslim is the exact same.

Easter comes from the Babylonian false god Ishtar of spring and fertility. Sumeria knew her as Inanna.

It is true Iran is attacked for their Islamic faith. It is equally true that Iran is attacked for having closed markets, for not working on behalf of the wahhabs, and for their lands.

This is what I believe scripture is communicated to us believers. I can't write it any other way. If you notice, the updates I make to Bible and Quran verses are the same updates since I learned from teachers who taught me faith. Important

If someone says there are 40 authors of the Bible we have today, that's not evidence the Bible is correct since we don't know who the authors of the books of the Bible was. The Bible is compiled stories handed down from generation to generation transmitted orally than later written down. There are stories that are added that are false and stories that are not in the Bible today that would have to be for the Bible we have today to be the infallible word of God.

There are many more female figures in Islam then there are in Judaism and Christianity. Christianity has 5 female figures, Judaism has 10 female figures, Islam has 18 female figures.

How can Muslims give up on the Palestinians and the Yemenis when they are teaching the Islamic faith the religion these Muslims give up on these countries for? The Palestinians and the Yemenis teach the faith these Muslims accept. When these Muslims give up on the Palestinians and the Yemenis, they do not claim it is because Iran is involved in these countries. Important

What I think happened was the true Torah got lost with several verses of the Prophets saying they are Muslim, and the religion is Islam. The false apostles knew this and wrote in Jews to hide it to either to expand their false Arabian fertility god's or the false apostles didn't believe the Israelite faith was called Islam, so the false apostles didn't call the faith by its name of Islam since the false apostles didn't want to put what they thought was an error in their false gospel. The Israelites told others handed down through generations that they were called Jews in place of what they are as Muslims because the Israelite thought the Israelites were called Jews and not Muslims. The Israelites can be referred to as Jews because Jews are the people of Judea. Important

If you are not servicing people, you don't work a real job. Doing paperwork and being in authority is not a real job. You have no superiors. You are the superior. That's a status, not a job. A job is something you are held accountable for. If you answer to no one, it is a hobby that pays you.

Christians claim they are right because their religion is mocked the most. Christians claim that the Devil attacks the "correct" religion the most. What Christians overlook is that the wahhab ideology tries to take over the Islamic faith which is a far bigger attack than others mocking a religion. Also, if Christians feel their religion is attacked the most, the lands that are attacked in 2023 most are Islamic.

Since the beginning of time, it was environment meaning what city and religion is raising someone. In 2023. We don't know who they will become because social media raises the next generation.

Those who say hard times make hard men are unaware that those who are poor have the highest rate of mental illness and they are poor. Does that fit the description?

The reason why the caliphs were polygamous is because they wanted to make sure other women were into them knowing that if they were not married, no women would be into them. Status mattered 1400 years ago.

Some advice I have for you is to be inconsistent with those you are not friends with. If you are consistent with them, they know what to expect and how you will react to something that happens. If you act inconsistently, they won't know how to lure you. If they think you are crazy, that's not a bad thing because then they will stay away from you.

I didn't look for meaning, meaning found me. I did look for if the Hereafter exists a decent amount, but not meaning. By my 30s, I would have done such out of interest, but not seeking meaning. I bring this up because people in their 20's look for meaning. The age would be younger if we were posed with these questions in our youth. That's a deep subject that takes years of thought. Yet we the public don't know how much thought one person has put into it to claim there is meaning to life.

I can only describe what another country's practices and beliefs are. I cannot explain what someone's life is like who lives halfway across the world. I cannot emphasize this enough.

Women dress modest in Islam; the intent might be that they don't have to compete nearly as much in beauty standards.

It doesn't matter what upbringing Prophet Muhammad had; the Quran has every single Israelite story correct. Important

The reason why the poor are religious is because the poor are grateful. When developed nations get wealth, the citizens become less grateful and become less satisfied with life.

Since the beginning of time, the laws of life have always been there and will always be there until the end of time. For instance, falling will cause a bruise. Important

What a shame that the elites hijacked Roman Catholicism which must have been a great life no doubt. Important

The elites make it seem like religion is thriving in today's world. What is happening is religion is not being taught in context. Also, all Abrahamic faiths are being distorted to a great extent and are being used to turn religious people against each other to create animosity and start warfare. To add to it, most of the world is allowed to mock religion at any level the public chooses to which the public chooses to at a high level in today's world. One more thing is that the world around us is failing, religion wouldn't allow such if it were thriving. The elites are using their "religion" to get clout, that's what is going on here. The elites want their "religion" as dominant as possible since they get fame from it versus atheism which failed in the Soviet Union where atheism would not be dominant to get clout in today's world. It shows you who really runs the world. Important

Allah preserved the original language of mankind, Arabic.

What you can do is speak as some sort of theory for what you accept as a fact from history and the news. Use a tone of skepticism every time the subject is brought up. Important

Allah is eternal and Prophet Isa is eternal. However, Allah is before time whereas Prophet Isa is not. Also, Prophet Isa is in Paradise.

The Assad's may have a team that tells Asma Al Assad to wear a hijab only in a Mosque to counter the wahhabs efforts who claim that all Muslims women must always wear a hijab where the wahhabs are trying to ruin the Muslim faith.

The fact the Iranian leaders are Muslim every year should tell you something. Important

God has more knowledge than every human alive today considering much of history is lost and God knows the lost history.

If you don't want to talk to someone, say "I am upset, I would like to be left alone."

Muhammad had the best ethics possible because of it, he's the king of good ethics.

What Muslims today aren't realizing is that to become a Muslim, one must accept that the zionists want from the Nile to the Euphrates and to be a Muslim, they must support the Palestinian and Yemeni people. Important

I believe by trying to make life so easy and carefree, it will create new problems far bigger for Americans. Important

Because you are now viewed mainly by your political and religious beliefs, that means those who criticize what people in your political or religious beliefs are doing is wrong that means you are taught by the superiors not to listen to it. Important

Saying “you need the help” will always draw offense from someone being told such. This is a law of life.

The Christian theologians have many “deep” meaning in the Old Testament to claim that it relates to the false gospel. Often, I cannot understand what the Christian theologians are saying. The Islamic scholars along with the rest of the Muslims read the Old Testament literal for the direct meaning that can be described to anyone in the public to explain why the Old Testament contradicts the false gospel. I believe the Muslims here have it 100% with interpretating scripture and that the Christian theologians are wrong to do this most or possibly all the time. Important

For those who believe the reason for religion is “because God said to do that”, why would God update scripture?

The elites cannot pick a path of the worldly life, warfare, revolutions, and influencing the next generation. Doing all four at once has failed them, the elites won’t confess to it. Important

The elite’s goals are only to control the world and its resources. The elites have no interest in destroying Islam. The Islamic lands stand in their way of from the Nile to the Euphrates. It would not matter to the elites if Sharia Law was practiced in one of their countries. It is true that the elites are trying to destroy Islam, that is a method of theirs to usurp the lands they want. The elites also fund Christianity and atheism as a method to try to usurp Islamic lands. Important

What happened most times is someone would talk about a deep subject with me, I would rebuttal part of what they are saying, they would respond saying “you are looking for an answer.” We all know this to mean they are saying I am not capable of having dialogue with them. They are saying we cannot have conversations. Then, they say “it is part of your mental illness, you cannot hold down a five-minute conversation.” They perceive it as out of the blue thinking I want to enter a conversation they don’t that got brought up anyways. They incorrectly believe I think about entering into an argument with them all day long. When I rebuttal someone, often they would say that to deny responsibility for their faults to tell me they believed something wasn’t an issue when it was. They would also use it for the “logic” they claimed. Their “answers” at many times were not sufficient because their social skills are so poor so I would have to ask something else related to the subject, I would then receive that response from them. They then resort to saying you are talking “circular” which is their way of saying you are wrong. What they can also do is bring up a previous point and then claim it is circular when you respond with the same answer, they knew you already answered their question. Important

What will happen to the public where the people are told they are worth more every generation and they feel they are not worth that?

If most of humanity only cares about themselves where that is all they can think about, there is no point to speak highly of leaders. It gets far worse, this means no one will speak good of others around them. This means they cannot have good ethics and cannot support their friends and family. When the public doesn't feel they are supported, they turn to therapy believing they are lonely in this endless loop. If all the public cares about is themselves, they will have no memories because all that concerns them is thinking about themselves. If all people care about is themselves, this means culture will end. Important

Because the golden rule is not in logic and philosophy, that means someone can be as rude as they want claiming it is part of "logic" and "philosophy." From what I have observed, the nerds are the ones who are deciding "logic." The term "logic" will be used more than any word that any generation of this earth has ever used. All this claiming "logic" and "philosophy" as their personality is going to make those who do this miserable over time. This is new where no group of people in history did something like this. I know there isn't data on this choice yet, but I get the sense it is a horrible idea. Add this to how people in the public will look at each other as if they rarely make sense. I am aware it may not lead to misery for someone, but I already know it will make lives worse just by reading this paragraph I have typed. The issue with "logic" is someone who claims it doesn't have to abide by it. They can also end a conversation where they are not abiding by it with their actions and speech. Then they call "logic" to say the person is senseless as some sort of tool to be used. This is how easily it is misused. Logic and philosophy can keep being added to and subtracted to; this is not something good for both logic and philosophy. What I have noticed with "logic" is that people will claim the other person is not talking about "logical" for material that are unrelated to that the other person is talking about in areas such as debates. Nothing is defined in 2024's version of "logic" since the other party can keep claiming what the other person does or says is not "logical" when a disagreement occurs. With this "logical" world, you see so much similarity from person to person who claims "logic". You will hear so commonly used "by that logic." The public will have such a strong effort for "logic" in their lives in the future. With "logic", someone can claim what they say or do is "logical" and claim the other person's actions or words is not "logical" that they disagree with. Often, the person claiming this “logic” is claiming “logic” for personal benefit by claiming it is what they believe. You will see more lecturing from the “logic” crowd in the future. One major thing that may happen with this “logical” future is that history may be interpreted far differently, or history won’t matter. Both the liberals and the American conservatives in America believe “logic” benefits their party more than the other, so both parties will keep claiming “logic”. The public figures if they understand “logic” the best, then their political party is better than the other one and that they are smarter than the public. What will happen when the liberals in America fights with the American conservatives over which party claims “logic”? The public understands logical fallacies, does the public understand past logical fallacies? We remain to see. However, the public will claim to understand “logic” if they only know logical fallacies, which would be most of the public. If the public messes up “logic” which I believe the public will, it will be bad for their country because the public will go further into “logic” and mess up their country far more. The public favors “logic” over their political party. The public will make “logical” countries, who knows what that will look like. One thing noteworthy is that “logic” may not have been written to run a country. Important

Many in today’s first world countries public want “peace” because it is in their best interest. Important

One thing I appreciate about life is people can say horrible things about you, and then they move on once you’ve talked to them since they have other people they want to try to insult or direct their lives. What I learned to do is say “ok” and then ignore them.

My advice is to never be content with what you know, seek more knowledge.

I believe social media makes people have no substance.

If a Christian is willing to hear criticism here, if Europe is Christian why are the numbers of out of wedlock births so high?

For some reason, we Muslims aren’t viewed by others on how we treat other Muslims but how we “treat our women.” I find this to be unfortunate. Important

Hindus have the caste system so even they understand status. The only ones that truly don’t get it are the European pagans and the buddhists. Important

What I see on the internet is Muslims saying, “Jesus said this specific verse in the Bible.” The Muslims are not talking about what is in the Old Testament and what is in the Quran. Rarely do I see Muslims talk about the errors in the false gospel and that is briefly discussed.

Allah doesn't want us guys to be anything but a Muslim since us guys can convince Muslim women to marry us and leave the Islamic faith.

I spoke against the left because I thought the left would financially collapse the country and that the left wanted me to be part of the left. Both are not true. What is true is that no one would want to live under the left in America. I was right for the wrong reasons. Important

One thing I don't like that religious people do is they claim religion when they want for instance one woman will say "I am a Christian lady" (Sonny Faz's mother). If I were to ask them why they don't go to Church on Sundays, they will say that it is "none of my business." Others will support them claiming that someone isn't to be questioned with their efforts in religion. They criticize on social media other religions, but they don't want to be criticized is what goes on here.

One thing I cannot stand is when Muslims say that a "muslim" can live in any country he or she wants, but the "Muslim" they are referring to does not endorse Sharia Law nor does this "Muslim" support Islamic countries such as Yemen.

If there is warfare, someone has to go fight the war. Wars cannot be neglected, nor can people be expected to leave the land. This is how life was written. This is directed to Christians, hindus, European pagans, and buddhists. Important

The Christians in the Middle East should be required to fight the wars with us, if not, then they don't belong in our countries. Think of the scrutiny us Muslims get. Then what happens is America and Europe tries to import their "Christianity" to the Middle East which is what is going on. The Christians should be addressing this, but it is clear they don't want to as there is animosity amongst each Abrahamic faith in our countries. All I am asking here is for the Christians to speak out against the global American and European "Christianity" that they are aiming to do. I find it wrong for Christians not to speak out against what is going on here, do Christians in the Middle East want American and European "christians" to run their religion? Important

The Quran is the only religious text that we know the author of.

The public can just say someone is making things up when they are telling the truth, the public can choose to lie. Something seriously wrong can happen as a result of this.

We Muslims cannot keep America going because America has shown the willingness to cut food from the public and because America can draft us. America also does not have a functioning judicial system. There is nothing we can do but wait for its demise. Important

America doesn't write concepts as definite so that means concepts such as liberalism and conservatism can be written any way by America. This is a terrible idea America does. Important

People get used because they gave up on what they believe for friends that use them for their status. They wouldn't have been used had they stood by what they once believed. Important

People recognize for themselves when an example is used for themselves, but they cannot when it was used for yourself. This means they cannot relate to you.

If a young woman does not desire to get married, then she is not a believer or not yet a believer. Important

"We will never know if religion is correct or not." It is because you don't care about what goes on in the Middle East and around the world. You don't know religion, because you have no need for religion as I have shown where that is their way of saying they only care about themselves. Important

The Prophets and their companions' actions aligned with what was in the Quran and the hadiths. We can deduce that the ancient Israelites actions aligned with scripture. That means the ancient Israelites followed literalism. Important

When Christians say faith is practiced within the believer, I believe Islam is correct because faith is applied in law as part of going to Paradise where far more is given to Allah when Muslims live under Sharia Law. Important

The left claims to be "open minded" and act as if they will have something good to say about conservatism where they claim there is more, they are looking into about conservatism to see if they agree with minor details about conservatism. The left use the most horrendous names to call conversative beliefs. That's not how it works, that's close minded of them. They don't want to believe they are like everyone else so they come up with this "open minded" whatever it means.

When people like you for your status which is your material, this is the same as when you were a teen, and your friends would come over only to play the videogames you have that you don't.

The public wouldn't know if a guy was gang affiliated or not if he has tattoos. To this day, the hadiths are relevant not to get tattoos.

There can only be one Paradise. If there were multiple places to go in the sky, it would collapse. Important

I take no issue with a Muslim saying they have given up on the Palestinian government. I take serious issue if a "muslim" says they haven't given up on the Palestinian people.

America's goal is not world capitalism, America's goal is world zionism. The zionists read religion as literal as their goal, they want from the Nile to the Euphrates. The rest of the Bible and Quran, the zionists differ if scripture is to be read literal, allegorical etc. by them. Important

When the troops from other countries come for instance Algeria's troops invade Libya, you have three options. One is to join the Algerian draft and die a martyr where you will get the top layer of Paradise. The second is you can get up and leave the country since it isn't an Islamic country. The third is you can join a group to try to overthrow the country. Important

The talmudist country may be called Libya, the country they own is not actually Libya. It should have a name like the Weimar Republic or Cuba. Important

The main reason why the youth lack discipline could be that everywhere they go, they have a smart phone. This means they don't require discipline because they are enjoying being on their smart phone the whole time, not having to sit and wait for appointments which one could claim creates discipline by doing so.

Because the public keeps trying new trends and social media apps, the public isn't satisfied. This means the public isn't getting much enjoyment out of what they are doing with their free time. The public will keep looking so they will try "new" things to be satisfied. This means they will be open to "new" ideas that the elites put out where the public will do acts that deviate from religion. Important

A catholic woman who goes to church every now and then told me after saying she has hatred in her said her name "Sarah" to herself. That could be the holy spirit talking to her. Important

None can deny that the Israelites thought a form of this way of thinking. As you know, I am not an expert at this way of thinking, however. I have written out other forms of Israelite school of thought that I understand at a certain level. Important

This is what I believe with this, when someone burns a Quran, they are insulting ethnic groups of other faiths who view Muslims as their brothers and sisters. If you believe Christians and Muslims are separate people, I don't get involved with this. If faith and ethnicity are equal or if faith comes before ethnicity, I don't know this. In the video, the Iraqi Christian said those who burn the Quran hurt everyone, this is a fact that Iraq's, Syria's, Lebanon's, Palestine's, Egypt's citizens will not appreciate it, I got respect for him for taking a stance for the morally correct thing to say. A Christian or an Iraqi of a different faith is not morally wrong to take offense to someone who burns a Quran. Also, this involves our Lord, Allah decides this, it is something anyone get an opinion about. This is not something that involves ethnicity, if it did, we would have a say on it. Important

A few jokes that the public didn't think were hysterical and you are deemed a troll for life in America. When someone calls you a troll, you can say "you started the conversation." Important

The way I see it is whatever taxes I pay; it goes to people's cars for them to show off that they buy on credit. Whatever it is, it is not capitalism since we in the public have such a slight chance of owning an expensive car. This is personal for me, it is not for discussion. Important

We don't even know the names of the books of the bible. The book of Exodus may not be its true name. We know the book of matthew is not an actual book of the true Gospel. This means the name for the book of matthew will be so much different.

One thing you can do is give a statistic instead of saying "most men drive a car", you can say "90% of men drive a car."

What I found was that with my beliefs, they would push me back in when I would shy away from them. Important

Many people view it as professional when they are searching the internet. In most cases in America, I don't believe them. The internet is ruined as I have shown in previous posts and it causes several more problems in America. What are these websites that are so crucial for people to go on? What are they trying to learn? I was told to go on Google, that's not a specific website and most of it is advertisements to buy material. Is Instagram and TikTok professional? They are going on the internet because they are not satisfied with their life, they disguise it as professional to you where they think it is where they believe they are researching something that will benefit the earth. This is not directed to someone who is purchasing something through the internet.

The public is just competing and competing to live the best life possible amongst their friends. Because the public will keep competing for this "global" best life they believe they can live, their beliefs will not matter. Important

A delusion is a belief that is not held by the public. The public believes U.F.O.'s exist, there is no evidence for this, but it is not counted as a delusion because the public believes it. It needs many reports to be considered a delusion. The wahhabs cannot decide what delusions are considered for their countries because they write in false hadiths for their wahhab beliefs. The wahhabs will keep claiming we are delusional for saying that they were created by the British. We would need many sources that the wahhabs won't allow to go out for it. This also means that when we show the zionists want from the Nile to the Euphrates, the elites claim it is a "delusion." Important

Keep things brief, clear, concise and stay on point when someone brings up unrelated material. Important

To this day, not one verse in the Bible can be authenticated, it can be claimed that the Quran is infallible.

A hindu lady I met said "oh my god" when she was made alert of something. Hindus have some of our religious teachings.

If we Muslims believe those who go against us is wiser or smarter than us, we will lose. Important

The public wants to hear stories, they do not care for what they read in books. That would explain why social media does so well.

Because all they had thought about was themselves being important, they couldn't see the world around them collapsing. Important

Tell someone you meet something interesting that most in the public would agree with. This starts conversations.

A hallucination can happen when someone is dehydrated. This means they can claim the Prophets were hallucinating seeing Angels since the Prophets lived in a very humid climate. However, the Prophets were not dehydrated all day long their entire time as Prophets. Prophet Muhammad saw the Angel Gabriel many days in a week. Important

When someone questions your mental health, respond with "who are you?" Important

Saying "the west" is a way of globalizing the earth. I know it is not your intent, but that is what it does by saying "the west."

When disbelievers say horrendous things about our Prophet Muhammad, they think they are disrespected when we Muslims insult their ideology leaders and when we insult them.

Many “christians” such as Sam Shamounian will tell you that the verses in the Bible, they don’t agree with are to be read allegorically or the entire Bible is to be read allegorically, this is something they try which I will show you with this paragraph. Most Christians will tell you that the Quran must be interpreted as literal, that is correct of them to say. 10% of Christians in America interpret the Bible as literal. In today’s world, this suits these Christians who read the Bible as allegorical since the public wants to hear that the Bible is pacifistic. Christians also will do what the public wants, Christians abide by the laws America and Europe sets. What I am saying is that Christians in today’s world don’t want their Bible to be put into law and they want their Bible to be read the way they want. These Christians purposely make no mention of actual Christians such as Pastor Steven Anderson who wants Biblical Law and literalism to deflect that they do not want it to be part of their “religion.” Pastor Steven Anderson has addressed that he has gotten many emails from these “christians” telling him that is not a “real christian” wording it in such a way. These Christians found a way for scripture to suit them. This is no different from the cringeworthy “muslim” on YouTube who tries to teach “islam” in America but will not speak any word against the zionists. It doesn’t end there, these are the same “christians” who say they are “open minded”, David Wood is the same person he has been for years. Important

If you want to be friendly with someone in public, tell him that he’s got a nice jacket on.

Christians will keep researching what they think is Christ in historical Israelite books for Palestine in 4 B.C. because what they find tells them what they want to hear.

What I fear for America is that its citizens will either keep protesting for what they view as “justice” they will be as selfish as possible, become too immature, or they will become cynical.

What I can’t understand is that Christians in today’s world won’t even make mention of what is happening to the Palestinian state. They view Ukrainians as some sort of victims. Why Christians? Important

All it does is make problems far bigger posting on the internet what happens in the public that is an injustice because the internet has shown to give a bigger support for the bigger the headlines.

Now because most of the world has become globalized, that means the world is dependent on each country. This is now far more work for their countries and their citizens because if one country is failing, all countries have to fund to prevent it from collapsing. Important

Could you imagine if the internet was in existence for over 5000 years? Imagine all the entertainment on the internet. Important

Jews and talmudists view Maimonides as the "second Prophet Moses." Maimonides did not believe God talks to Prophets and he didn't believe God performed miracles. One of the Jews and talmudists leaders read scripture allegorically. Important

There will be some lives that are made much better in the future, a portion of lives will be made much worse given where the world is headed.

Think of how serious it will be when in the future, terminology becomes "claimed" by the American left and American conservative where they try to declare it as part of their political party. That means terminology can no longer be taught. Important

I noticed how with Ben Netanyahu, Ali Khamenei, and Bashar Al Assad that every year they are about the same people they were in previous years. This helps me believe in God since all three of them believe in a false god or they believe in our Lord. Important

In the future, so many things will be happening at once, it will be chaotic. What I mean is there will be a new headline, something big will happen in politics, more protests worldwide, some new event will happen etc. Also, the worldly life is going to be built up, we will see what will happen in the future. This means the world will have to hop from thing to thing to address not knowing what is serious and what isn't. Important

All the public in non-Muslim countries see is Islam being some sort of "hobby" they would be interested in having no clue at all of what is happening worldwide. Important

The public will just tell us every time "you went on islamic websites."

Being the class clown in middle school and high school, jokes weren't funny anymore as I aged. I needed new ones. Only some are consistently funny for me.

If someone in the public raises their voice or is angry with you, what you can say to them is "you are concerning me, I would like to end this conversation" and walk away.

The new YouTube videos are that you either get hours of dialogue or shots that are a minute long. The shorts are usually misses because of the many jump cuts. One thing you can do is slow down the shorts, it does a good amount. Yes, there are still videos that are 6 to 15 minutes long. I don't like this format at all on YouTube.

The Mosques are teaching that Islam that the world will convert to Islam. As I have shown, the opposite is going to happen where the world will collapse. Most Muslims do not see this as even a possibility. Important

The left in America treats each other horribly and then they trash communists. Communists don't make fun of each other and don't have some higher than others that insult the other ones. Communists don't play victim nor are they against all forms of warfare, meaning they have no care for the world where most countries they control. The left in America costs a fortune contributing their part of putting the country in deep debt that Americans cannot pay off. Also, communists are not religious at all, the left in 2023 ruins religion. The left in America expects the nicest things. The left in America claims that America is failing because not enough people to college yearly, that was debunked after 2012 when they claimed it in 2008. To this day, the American let still claims it. Communists blamed capitalists for when their countries were not working out well. Communists didn't have capitalists run half of their government like the left in America does with American conservatives. The left in America also bails out last minute of events. A portion on the left say they are not left because they voted for one or two politicians that are not left, this one I find absurd. The left will give "advice" that they themselves wouldn't take. The left will always put the blame on you when they say things are not "definite." The left things that you are wrong if you don't use their made-up terminology. What the left does is their actions indicate one thing, their words indicate something completely different. The left views any form of criticism as "bullying." Because the left political party in America is in decline every year, it will be more of a challenge socializing with the left. After seeing Hasan Piker insult Jidion on YouTube, I have concluded being left in America is not something worthwhile. Important

Americans in 2023 have goals that are borderline impossible and then they believe they are victims for not reaching their goals. Americans don't want it that way when the country does exactly what they want.

We don't know if the true Gospel was written during the time of Prophet Isa in 300 B.C.E. in Arabia or not.

The youth in the future could ask several times why they don't get their way. This up-and-coming generation possibly will cater to the youth at the time that ask why they don't get their way. Important Muslim means submit to God. In 2023 the term has been rewritten to mean accepting Muhammad as the final Prophet.

Since the public will not find joy in life, they will turn to social media influencers. They will try one after another meaning red pill, catholic, feminist etc. Important

Because the public will be more invested in their beliefs, they will become more defensive. Because they are being taught their beliefs incorrectly, it will mess with them. Important

Since Muslims apply Islam into law, they will always read the Quran and hadiths literal. Important

We know it to be a fact that the wahhabs exist and they are trying to ruin the Islamic faith to this day.

My advice is to update your car plate every one or two years.

If scripture was read allegorically, what is and what isn't allegorical? How much of it is allegorical? Does it extend to Noah's ark, Prophet Muhammad controlling the weather, halal, haram, Paradise? Also, reading scripture allegorically leads to atheism since why would it matter if someone committed adultery? Important

The basis of what I am writing is that the religious centers are going to get messed up for every religion except Islam. This is because the religious centers will do what the countries want by as example of render to Caeser what is Caeser and by reading scripture allegorically. Another factor is all other religions will want to globalize the earth where in Islam it isn't allowed. What will happen in Islam is Muslims will walk out of the religious centers. The wahhabs with their ideology will destroy Islam from within by doing the remaining damage by corrupting the Muslim youth. I can't tell you for a definite if there will be a final war against Islam or if there will be a joint Christian-Muslim war or if both events will happen one after the other. Important

Prophet Isa spoke Rabbinical Hebrew, Aramaic, and Arabic. We are unsure if he spoke all languages of the earth. With exception of Prophet Isa who spoke at birth, we do not know how much knowledge of scripture each Prophet had before their Prophethood status. All the Prophets knew Arabic so if the Quran was revealed during the time they were alive, they would understand the Quran.

One thing I have seen is someone in the public will intentionally try to upset you and then they change the subject acting as if you didn't get upset at all by it.

What people look for is if something stands out that they can share with others. Something they would find interesting that they would think critically about to give them a new perspective on a field they have studied. Important

If someone says, "we are all trying to figure it out", with warfare except for a defensive purpose can never be justified by someone who says that. Important

One thing that will happen to first world countries is the schools, workplaces, and books will teach things that just do not matter at all. This won't cause anything serious to happen, but it will make life worse for people who live in them because people will get invested on things that don't matter having conversations that go to waste.

Smile to Jannah made a good point on YouTube when he said on a podcast talking about social media that there are plenty of people on it saying, "17 labels of ADHD, autism, cannot have dairy, well what can you do?"

The public will expect higher wages, education will cost more, and each generation will believe that it will make them smarter, meaning more successful when it has shown otherwise.

One thing that will happen for much of the public is that books and knowledge won't matter because all that will matter is the worldly life. Important

The pagans would worship the Black Stone, we Muslims do not.

Arab is viewed as an ethnic group; it is not accepted as life's origin in today's world.

If I were to write down what someone told me in Massachusetts, if I showed the person the next day, they would then say, "that's not what I meant." Important

In Massachusetts, no matter how badly the citizens would make fun of themselves in front of you, they had this motor to try to put you down the next day. I cannot understand this at all. Important

Massachusetts has this attitude of "leave me alone", in Massachusetts, the citizens expect you to talk to them when they start a conversation or else they view you as weird.

I wonder how often in history there was a sworn white supremacist that gave it up because he was miserable, and he ended up marrying a black woman.

The issue is when a Muslim doesn't support Palestine, then that Muslim does not support Syria, Yemen, Iraq etc. Important

The truth is that the Israelites were promised a Messiah who would create the true Gospel which is lost and the Final Prophet who would create the Quran and would give the Israelites victory. The stories of Babylon in Palestine after enslavement have no basis, some books in the Bible we have today may not even be books of the infallible Bible. The stories in Ezra were after Sulaiman's Temple. The Israelites were excited to have a huge Temple in Palestine, but it wasn't part of scripture though they added it to the Bible. All the stories are Arabian, what I am saying is the stories stopped after enslavement by the Babylonians and then the Israelites came back to the land where Prophet Isa revealed the true Gospel, the stories then continued and were completed by Prophet Muhammad who revealed the Quran and gave the Israelites victory over much of the earth. Important

The sick minded people hiding in the Muslim countries had over 20 years of being a person without words where they become capable of such actions seeing in the ages of these men and women in their 40's through 60's who do horrendous acts to Muslims, yet the world believes it is "Islam" when it is on the news. These sick minded people know how to trick those worldwide. Important

Every nation had polytheism in it. Islam is not the Arabs religion; Islam is for all people.

If you lower your tone, it makes you sound more confident.
